Nearly 50,000 visit Ag Progress

By DIETER KRIEG

ROCK SPRINGS - An estimated 40 to 50 thousand people traveled to Centre County during the middle of this week to participate in the biggest agricultural show of its kind in the East - Ag Progress Days. It amounts to a huge, outdoor Pennsylvania Farm Show minus the livestock shows. In its place, however, are field demonstrations of various pieces of equipment, for which visitors crowd around by the thousands.

An annual highlight of the plowing contests, which were spread over two days this year. In Tuesday's contests, held beneath a cloudless late summer sky, William Crain of Mechanicsburg came up with the best furrows for large plows and was automatically in the running for a shot at the national contest. An eliminations contest for that big event took place on Wednesday and Crain again came up on top. He'll represent the state at the National Plowing Contest, in El Paso, Illinois on Sept. 14 and 15.

Crain, a Cumberland County farmer, won his county's plowing championships earlier this month. (See story on page 113).

Placing second in the large plow contest on Tuesday was

John Flick of Berlin, followed by Marlin Detterlein of New Enterprise, Kenneth Glazier of McConnellsburg, Andy Myers of Dallastown, Donald Stahl of Fayetteville, and Richard Binkley of Columbia.

Tobacco growers report excellent crop

By JOANNE SPAHR

LANCASTER, Pa. - There's no doubt about it. On the whole, this year's tobacco crop is a good one. At first, the dry conditions around transplanting time looked a slight bit threatening, but as it turned out, became a blessing in disguise for many farmers throughout Lancaster County. The plants rooted deep, and, then, when they needed the most moisture, in July, the rains came at nice intervals without too much force to pelt the ground. As a result, the ground in most parts of the county is loose, which allows for good drainage, and most important, a good tobacco crop.

As evidence from touring the county this week, this year's tobacco size is excellent. In many fields, the leaves are long, broad, and lush, covering the separation between rows.

Nearly all farmers report an excellent crop, and in most cases, say it is better in nearly all respects in

Tomato crop down, prices same

By KENDACE BORRY

LITITZ - The tomato crop appears to be average, or "mediocre" as one grower put it this past week when Lancaster Farming surveyed Lancaster, York, and Schuylkill Counties to see what the harvest is like.

Karl Fuller, representing the farm department of the Charles G. Summers, Jr., Inc. Packing House, New Freedom, Pa. believes that the major reason there is not a bumper crop in the York County area is due to the lack of rainfall in the area. This is making the tomatoes smaller than usual. Although he stated that the rains in the last few weeks have helped, he added that now that the harvesting is in progress, the best thing would be for the rains to hold.

Having good harvesting weather seems to be the main concern of tomato growers throughout the area. B.S. Warfel, who runs a tomato brokerage firm near the Buck, stated that the hot, humid weather has

Lehi Coop reorganizing

ALLENTOWN - Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers this week instituted a major internal reorganization program designed to improve its retail customer service and to increase efficiency in all areas of operation.

Put it all together!

The Babcock B-300V is rapidly reestablishing herself as the world's top layer. Egg producers with flocks well into production are reporting performance they haven't seen for years . . . from any layer. In many cases, in fact, they are reporting their best performance ever.

But in this business, potential is only half the game. Babcock backs its bird with the most professional, experienced distribution team in the egg industry.

Consider these features:

PRODUCT

The B-300V rates "excellent" in all key indicators of profitable performance:

EGG PRODUCTION -- The B-300V peaks high and early, for quick recovery of your costs, and early profitability. Her persistency after peak translates to top egg production.

FEED CONVERSION -- The B-300V has a proven ability to efficiently convert feed to eggs. From 1966, until 1973 when she was withdrawn from Random Sample Tests, she was the top average feed converter in the industry.

LIVABILITY -- Field results from all B-300V flocks in production since her reintroduction in late '76 indicate she may have far-and-away the best livability in the business.

EGGSHELL QUALITY -- Eggshell strength is one of the greatest assets of the 1977 B-300V. Between 1972 and 1976, shell strength of eggs produced by B-300V's has improved by a measured 15% in early lay (36 weeks) and 30.8% in late lay (68 weeks).

RESISTANCE TO STRESS -- We call it "manageability". The B-300V is a calm, adaptable bird. She resists environmental stresses and recovers rapidly from management problems.

SERVICE

The Babcock distribution team has developed service programs to provide each individual grower or egg producer with the optimum product for his specific operation:

DELIVERY -- Careful, on-time and courteous.

QUALITY PRODUCTS -- Birds are hatched and/or grown with Babcock technical assistance. Uniform, healthy chicks and started pullets are vaccinated for your area challenges, and are correctly and fully-developed for their age.

SERVICE -- Experienced, professional service is available before, during and after delivery.

FLEXIBILITY -- Babcock distributors are equipped to supply the needs of your operation, whatever the size of your order. Cage or floor grown started pullets are available, depending on the needs of your program.

Talk to a professional about your next replacement flock. The businessmen behind the businessman's bird have a performance package tailored to your chick or started pullet program.

Quality and service. Put it all together with Babcock!

BAR-LOK SPEEDY CORN CRIBS!

The Advantages of Speedy Corn Crib

1. Easy to Erect

Speedy's Corn Crib goes up fast and easy because of roof rafters and Bar-Lok side panels. The steeply pitched roof pushes the corn to the edges—NO WASTED SPACE!

Step 1 — Bar-Lok Construction saves you time — gives you a strong, sturdy crib. Crib wire panels are interlaced to form an eye. A 13"x3/8" rod is then inserted through the eye and pushed down to the foundation. Easy, simple, fast construction.

Step 2 — Rafters are bolted to assembled rafter ring. Now you're ready to put the roof panels on. Rafters assure you of proper roof panel placement the first time. No wooden framework to build.

2. Wide Selection

There is a Speedy Crib for every farm need, priced right for every budget.

- Choice of 900, 1200 or 1700 Bushel Sizes.
- 5 or 2 Gauge Wire Mesh Side Panels.

3. Durable

The Speedy 5 Gauge Crib won't bulge or sag—stands straight and tall year after year. For extra strength and durability get the Speedy 2 Gauge Crib—outlasts other cribs—even with full capacity loads. Galvanized wire, not aluminum paint.

4. Save Money and Energy

Corn stored in a Speedy Crib is dried by Mother Nature without the use of costly energy. This saves money and also helps conserve our scarce energy resources.

Heidi is my girl

Heidi

By DIETER KRIEG

An excited squeal of delight, two little legs kicking vigorously in unison, delicate flailing arms, joyful eyes, and a big smile is what I get to come home to daily. Her name is Heidi, and she's eight months old today (Saturday).

We're the best of friends.

I'm sure that's how she wants it to be. A day doesn't go by that she doesn't reach out for me and follow me around with her big, round blue eyes. When she has her catch, her smile turns into a cute giggle and she carries on a conversation in her own little way while running her tiny fingers over my face or grabbing a hold of one of my fingers.

Heidi shows her pleasure and excitement by kicking both legs in unison, waving her arms, smiling and "talking." And if that doesn't tell it all, one look into her eyes tells all the rest.

She's a happy and beautiful little baby, adding significantly to the happiness of her daddy.

Taking pictures of her is almost routine now. Seeing her daddy hide behind a camera used to baffle her, but not anymore. She keeps right on smiling. That's a recent picture of her, above.

When she's serious or not sure of what to make of things before her eyes, she closes her mouth and just studies the situation. Seeing cows for the first time or any new experience will bring that on. But it's only a moment or two before the squeals of delight return, and then she kicks with both her legs -- just about propelling herself right out of my arms.

Heidi is discovering the world. Why, just this morning during breakfast she perfected a way to blow bubbles with babyfood. Mommy isn't very thrilled about it, but Heidi had a big smile on her face anyway.

As for myself, I'm thrilled about the many wonderful joys of being the father of a precious little girl.

Ag Progress - good show

Penn State, in conjunction with nearly 200 agribusinesses put on another terrific agricultural show at its Rock Springs Research Farm this week. It ran for three days, and to see it all, it would have taken that long. Most visitors, however, can only afford to get away for a day, which is understandable.

There was a lot to see, and for those willing to learn, there was that part of it too. Among the activities were field trials of forage harvesters and balers. Farmers had the opportunity to watch their favorite machines in action and could subsequently ask about them at the exhibitor's booth.

Not to be left out are the various field trials Penn State offered to farmers. Ways to reduce erosion and save energy were mentioned, and what farmer can afford not to listen when those topics come up for discussion?

Visited by an estimated 50,000 people, Ag Progress is the biggest show of its kind in the East. This year it was held for the second time in a row at the University's 1525 acre research facilities. The site is being suggested as a permanent home for Ag Progress, which makes an awful lot of sense since that's where the experimental fields are. Penn State can't very well move them to other locations, and they certainly have the space and facilities to make it a good and worthwhile event.

They did just that this year, and give assurance of even bigger and better Ag Progress Days in the future.

The event offers one-stop shopping for future profits and the people who put it all together should be congratulated.

Sour story on milk

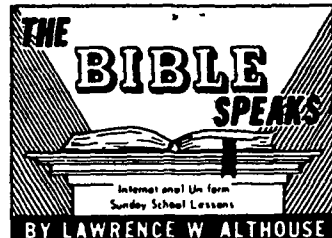

"Don't drink your milk" is the title of a new book which went onto bookshelves across the country yesterday. It's written by a medical doctor, Frank A. Oski, who believes that no one should drink milk. His reasonings include lactose intolerance, milk allergy, coronary heart disease, and activities of milk cooperatives.

The book, which will be distributed by the Playboy Press and retail for $9.95 per copy, may never have a serious effect on milk consumption. But it's nevertheless an insult to dairymen and dairy cooperatives. In fact, it's an insult to thousands of doctors and nutritionists who wouldn't support Dr. Oski's views. To illustrate how ridiculous Oski's findings and opinions are, the National Dairy Council wonders how in the world the activities of dairy cooperatives could affect a person's health. What's more, Oski had the audacity to conduct tests with raw milk and then apply the conclusions to pasteurized milk.

Such unscientific procedures should be proof enough that Oski's book is nothing more than a compilation of trash.

I'm going downstairs for breakfast to drink to that. Drink up, folks!

GIVE US A KING!

Lesson for August 28, 1977

Background Scripture:

Judges 21:25;
1 Samuel 7 through 10.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 110.

In commenting upon the sources of authority in church life, United Methodist Bishop James M. Ault once observed that "Every church has a Bishop, regardless of what you call him." Actually, I think the same is true of governments and monarchy: every governmental system has a king of some sort, although his or her title may vary greatly. Thus, the problem and concerns that Israel encountered as the twelve tribes became a monarchy are not as remote as they may first seem. They were concerned with the issues of morality and the exercise of governmental authority...and so are we!

Perverting justice
The picture we get in 1 Samuel 8 is one with which we may well identify. Joel and Abijah, the sons of the great Prophet Samuel, had assumed their father's role as "judge" in Israel. Technically, the "judge" was not a monarch, for his power was much more limited, yet the "judge" was still the one focus of governmental authority and influence among the confederation of the twelve tribes. Whatever power there was in the Promised Land was vested in the two judges, Joel and Abijah. Although they were not called "kings," they certainly had some governing power.

Unfortunately and unlike their father, they wielded that power corruptly and unjustly. Although they were sons of the great Samuel, yet they "did not walk in his ways, but turned aside after gain; they took bribes and perverted justice" (1 Samuel 8:3).

So, dissatisfied with Samuel's corrupt sons and fearful of the growing nations around them, the elders of Israel came to Samuel and demanded a monarchy: "Give us a king!"

A solemn warning
The writer of 1 Samuel makes it clear that neither Samuel nor God were pleased with this demand. However, God agrees to a king providing that the people are warned about what they are asking for. The reason behind this reluctance may well be, not that a monarchy is

TO CHECK TOUGH HAY

Barn fires at this time of year often result from spontaneous ignition of tough (damp) hay. If hay is stored in this condition it should be checked frequently for any rise in temperature. You can make a tester by drilling a few holes in the bottom six inches of a ½ inch by eight feet steel pipe. Place a sharpened plug in the end of the pipe and force it down through the stack and into the bales. Then, lower a veterinary-type thermometer down the pipe on a string.

If the temperature is 160 degrees F, check it every four hours. If the temperature has reached 175 degrees F, fire pockets may be expected. Call the fire department to have the hay wetted down, then remove the hay.

At temperatures higher than 175 degrees F., hay will burst into flames on contact with air. DO NOT attempt to remove the hay from the mow without first wetting it down.

TO FILL BUNKER SILOS SAFELY

Many farmers take advantage of slopes and hillsides to make horizontal silos. This type silo is much safer in some respects when compared to vertical or "tower" silos. (The latter collect poisonous gases), but is still not without its problems. Because it is essentially an open air silo, the accumulation of toxic gases does not occur. Rather, the danger comes from the filling and packing of the horizontal silos.

The biggest danger is tractor roll-over. It is common to run a tractor over the silage as it is unloaded to pack it down. The best tractor for this is the crawler type. They have more weight, a lower center of gravity and are more stable. However, most farmers don't own a crawler and have to use whatever is available.

A tricycle type tractor has the least stability and is more likely to upset if gotten too near an edge which can

Nations discuss wheat

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Representatives of governments of four major wheat exporting countries recently concluded a two-day meeting in Washington to discuss international wheat matters.

The meeting dealt primarily with an exchange of views about possible elements of a proposed new international agreement including both importing and exporting countries. The agenda also included a review of the current and prospective world wheat situation, and an exchange of views with respect to the current size of world wheat stocks and the general depressed condition of world wheat prices. The participating countries were Argentina, Australia, Canada, and the United States.

Further meetings will be held in coming weeks as a part of continuing preparation for exploratory work being carried out within the Preparatory Group of the International Wheat Council. The Preparatory Group is scheduled to meet next in London beginning Sept. 28.

CCC credit program set

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that, with the signing on Aug. 12 by the President of the Departmental Appropriations Act, the present Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) Export Credit Sales program for FY 1978 is being based on a $750 million funding level.

CCC credit provides short-term commercial financing for periods ranging from six months to a maximum of three years. Current interest rates for six and 12-month repayment terms are 7 per cent with a U.S. bank, and 8 per cent with a foreign bank repayment guarantee. For two-year repayment terms, the rates are 7½ and 8½ per cent, and for terms in excess of two years, 8 and 9 per cent.

The way it looks there is a bumper corn crop ahead. When storing this crop in the silo, let's not add what we don't need, but let's keep what we've grown. By treating this crop with Silo King you will

- deoxidize the silage
- hold down heating
- prevent loss of vitamins and other nutrients
- have a sweeter smelling feed
- and more

All this adds up to choice feed for your livestock this winter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Farmers are shortchanged

Editor, Lancaster Farming:

The letter from Jon Jantzen published in your July 16, 1977 issue under the heading "Grain Storage Advocated" is unfortunately blind to the needs and interests of the farmers who do and who alone can produce the grain that everyone else must have.

We appreciate and sympathize with Mr. Jantzen's and the Mennonite Central Committee's concern for the hunger problem. I'm sure they are completely sincere and well meaning.

However, it is a pity that those who worry about hunger overseas don't get better information and give fair consideration to the needs for economic justice for our own farmers - who they expect to feed the world every time there's a pinch.

The farmers' mission in life is to feed the hungry. The pharmaceutical companies' mission is to manufacture medicine to heal the sick. Both are "good causes". I'm sure no one ever expects the big drug companies to make medicine unless they get paid for it so they can pay union wages to their workers, attractive high salaries and big bonuses to their executives, and high profits to their stockholders. But here Mr. Jantzen never gives a thought to what the farmers are getting - or will get under the new farm bill for their labor, management and investment.

Well, what are farmers getting for their work and worry and investment and risk?

Right now farm prices are lower in comparison to prices and costs of things farmers have to buy than any time since March 1933 - right at the bottom of the Great Depression.

Right now average farm prices give the farmer little or nothing for his labor, and far less than the average businessman as a return on the farm investment. Many farmers right now don't even recover their "out-of-pocket" cost of production.

The new farm bill now being passed by Congress is just a shade better than what the Carter Administration recommended - which would give farmers $2.67 a hour for labor - the bare minimum wage, amounting to only a poverty-level income - and only 1½ percent as a return on their investment in land.

How can those who worry about hunger in other countries ignore the injustice of keeping American farmers down to a poverty level? American farmers are getting about the lowest prices, and the lowest levels of price support from their government of any farmers in any country in the world.

The new farm bill also gives Congressional sanction to the principle of the Carter Administration's "reserve" program, which Mr. Jantzen praises for helping protect the hungry overseas against shortages of food.

The "joker" for farmers in this grain reserve plan is that it will not protect farmers from the price-depressing effect of surpluses.

The "special farmer-held reserve" plan Mr. Jantzen mentions, and which has been given all the publicity, will account for only a few hundred million bushels of the total "surplus" of grain. There will be more than three billion bushels of grain on hand out of this year's and earlier crops when this marketing year is over and a new harvest is ready to start in 1978. Another big crop in 1978 will make the burden of the surplus outside the token little "special reserve" much worse still.

Some of this "surplus" outside the special reserve will be stored at the farmer's own expense - if and so long as he can get along without income with which to pay his bills. But farmers who have to have ready cash will have

topics of YF meeting

ATGLEN, Pa. - Farmers are concerned about depressed grain prices. Some are considering feeding their corn to hogs or beef cattle. Others are planning to build storage and drying facilities to hold grain until prices are more favorable.

A meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 1 at the Octorara High School Vo-

Ag Room, Route 41 about 1 mile south of Atglen. Enter the school at the "Receiving" sign, and proceed to the ag room to the rear. Farmers are invited to attend.

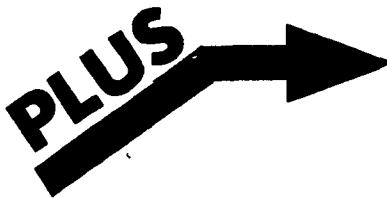

Penn State agricultural economist, H. Louis Moore, will discuss "Grain Outlook" and "Hog Outlook". Dwight E. Younkin, Penn State swine specialist, will discuss "What's Involved in Feeding Hogs?"

collapse. A wide front end tractor is more stable because of the wide setting of the front wheels and together with a ROPS and seatbelt, gives you the best chance in case of an upset. Make sure the tractor is in top mechanical condition (brakes, clutch, etc.) and the farmer's mentally alert. One mistake during packing may be all you are allowed.

TO CHECK SOIL

Keeping a soil fertile, with a "balanced" supply of each plant nutrient can be compared to using a self-feeder for hogs. A soil "self-feeder" supplies crops with the required fertilizer elements when they need them, just as self-feeders supply balanced rations to hogs at all times.

Top crop yields demand adequate and constant supplies of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, plus about 10 other nutrients. And to make these nutrients available, lime is needed. But many crops suffer each year from a shortage of one or more of these nutrients.

"Hidden hunger" in crops is costing farmers thousands of dollars each year. Corn is a good example of how a crop can run out of available nutrients at any time, but not show signs until it's too late. For instance - corn can run out of nitrogen, but often the yellow-tipped leaves don't appear until the flush of growth at tasseling and earing time. Then, it's too late to add nitrogen for top yields.

Now would be a good time to "check" your soil "self-feeders" by having a soil test made. Adequate fertilizer can make yields go up and keep in mind, as yields go up, the cost of producing a bushel, a bale, or a pound comes down.

TO PLAN HERBICIDE CHANGES FOR NEXT YEAR

By this time of year, any weed problems in your fields are fairly evident and probably beyond control. But now is a good time to develop an effective program for next year.

The easiest way to check for the effectiveness of different herbicides is to leave a small part of your field untreated. This gives you a chance to tell what weeds were controlled and what ones were missed. However, if you've forgotten to leave a portion of your field unsprayed, you should be able to find spots where the sprayer missed. These will usually be areas near the ends of the fields and will serve your purpose quite well.

If several types of weeds seem to have escaped control, you should check the herbicide container label as to whether the material was designed to eliminate those weeds. If it was not, be sure to include a herbicide to control them in your program for next year.

If your entire weed control program was not effective, reread the label to see if you followed instructions. Just a few simple mistakes during application can result in a complete failure.

Don't be too quick to condemn the herbicide used on your fields. Either too much or too little rain soon after application can often cause a great loss of effectiveness in many herbicides.

Farmers are shortchanged

(Continued from Page 13) to sell their grain to the government under purchase agreements, or mortgage it for a price support loan, and it will be acquired by the government when price support loans mature.

All of this government-owned grain can then be dumped back into the market at $3.46 per bushel for wheat and $3.08 per bushel for corn. That will prevent the prices farmers get from ever rising above that level. That's the "ceiling" that has been erected over farm prices, to keep them from rising any time that demand ever again should strengthen as it did in 1972 and 1973 and start prices upward from present low levels.

These "ceiling prices" are barely at the cost of production allowing only $2.67 per hour for the farmer's work and less than the interest rate on farm debts as a return on investment. These price ceilings aren't even high enough to be fair "floor prices". The farm bill that Mr. Jantzen praises for what it does to protect the hungry against shortages will keep the farmers who feed them - and all the rest of us - in permanent poverty.

Both the national political parties seem to have decided to make farmers the goats for everyone else's inflation by applying price controls (under other names, of course) to farm commodities.

The Nixon-Ford Administration initiated export embargoes in 1973 to stop farm prices from rising when market demand came into balance with supplies. This had the effect of creating artificial surpluses in our market even when people in other countries needed grain and wanted to buy it. Similar export controls were used again in 1974 and 1975. Then in 1976 a "standby embargo" was put into effect for five years, in the guise of an agreement with the Soviet Union.

The Carter Administration has now substituted the use of grain surpluses, under the name of "reserves", to do the same thing. As a fallback, however, the export embargo system is being kept on the shelf. President Carter backed down on his initial promise that he would never use export controls to keep farm prices down.

Farmers must concentrate now upon convincing the public, and the politicians, that when the government undertakes to regulate prices, it must be fair about it.

The Farmers Union agrees that consumers - both rich and poor - need reserves of food to protect them against surpluses. But when the government takes it upon itself to control the prices or wages or electric utility rates or any one else's opportunity to get paid for the goods or services which he provides to the community, then the government has an obligation to set those controls where they will be fair.

Farmers deserve as much for their work as any skilled craftsman, it seems to me. Farmers deserve as much return on their investment as any businessman, it seems to me.

I hope Mr. Jantzen and all the rest of the moral leaders who are concerned about feeding the country will also pay attention to the moral rights of farmers to get a fair return and a decent living

MEDICINE AND MANAGEMENT

By CARL TROOP, VMD

Facts on twisted stomachs

Those in the dairy industry who are always bragging about the "good old days," have one definite item in support of their contention. Twenty years ago nobody had ever heard of a "twisted stomach" or "displaced abomasum" (DA). But nobody is quite sure whether the condition did not exist or that it existed but nobody knew what it was. But one fact is certain; the incidence of displaced abomasum in many parts of the country is drastically increasing every year. The incidence of displacements this Summer is particularly alarming. The problem is that very little is known for certain as to the cause or predisposing factors, but lets examine what is known and try to provide any information which might be helpful.

The abomasum is the fourth stomach of the cow and is the one which is the culprit. Displacements can be left (LDA) or right (RDA). The abomasum is not necessarily twisted but more frequently just displaced to the left or right of its normal position. Movement of food through the abomasum is impeded, gas builds up, and the cow goes off feed.

There are two main classes of theories as to how the displacement occurs. One is mechanical, that is the abomasum is forced into its abnormal position, usually during or shortly after calving. The other theory is that the abomasum itself loses its muscle tone and is no longer able to maintain its place in the cow's abdomen, migrates to its new position, and becomes trapped there. Lately there is more leaning towards this theory, for in most displacements the cow also has failed to clean, or even if she has cleaned often has a metritis (uterine infection). This may indicate that the uterus also has a lack of muscle tone and is unable to expel that which it should normally be able to expel. The question as to why remains to be solved.

Frequency of displacements has a definite cycle. They are lowest in Spring and early Summer, high in late summer, medium occurrence in Fall and early Winter, the incidence increasing into late Winter and early Spring. Then as cows hit the pastures in Spring the occurrence almost miraculously stops for a while. There is much difference between farms themselves. There are some farms which have never experienced a known displacement. Then there are others with equal numbers of cows which will average six to eight displacements every year. Generally, ones which feed the finer chopped forages (silage and haylage as opposed to long stem hay) and feed large amounts at the least number of feedings. But there are exceptions.

Displacement almost always occurs near calving time, so clients who have asked how to eliminate the problem of displacements have been told simply just to not breed the cow back. More serious recommendations are in the line of a feeding program which will best reduce the chances of displacement.

The dry cow should have a fibrous ration, including at least six to ten pounds of dry hay. Grain should be fed only to dry cows receiving fair to poor forage, but the better program is to feed high quality balanced forage so no grain is necessary. Even if grain is fed it should be limited to four to six pounds per day.

Keeping the fresh cow "on feed" while increasing grain intake presents a management challenge. Some helpful hints all of which are important:

1. Keep cows from becoming overconditioned "too fat" during the dry period.
2. Use only the most highly palatable feeds.
3. Provide dry hay free choice.
4. Include some bulky ingredients in the early post calving grain ration (beet pulp, bran, oats, etc.).
5. Avoid highly acid silage, at least the first week or two.
6. Treat "off feed" conditions promptly.
7. Allow the cow to remain active or only limited restraint before and after calving.
8. Do not make abrupt changes in ration in early lactation.

The last two weeks before calving bring the cows onto grain gradually up to about 12 to 20 pound, depending on size and expected production. After calving increase grain feeding by only one to two pound daily. The rate of increase must be carefully controlled. Proper feeding is critical during this period. One other feeding management program which is very important not only in displacement reduction, but also rumen function, increased ration digestibility, production, and profit is to stretch the feeding time of the animal across as much of the day as possible. Instead of placing the animals entire ration in front of it at only two separate feedings, great benefits can be reaped by feeding three, four, or even five times per day. Doing this with the finer portions of the ration (grain) will be the most noticeably beneficial, but will be of benefit with any portion of the ration by helping to even out the fermentation load in the rumen.

Displacement therapy by surgery is highly successful, but the greatest success is prevention. Time, production, and profit is lost for every cow which must go under the knife. A common sense feeding program can help, but will not be a 100 per cent answer for many herds. Hopefully new research will shed new light on this growing problem.

Egg producers invited

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued an invitation for noncertified egg producer organizations, associations, or cooperatives to apply for certification in order to participate in nominating American Egg Board members.

The 18-member Board administers the Egg Research and Promotion Order authorized by the Egg Research and Consumer Information Act of 1974. The initial two-year term is nearing completion for nine Board members and their alternates. Certified egg producer organizations, associations, or cooperatives soon will be asked to submit nominees to fill these memberships.

Organizations wishing to be certified should contact John C. Pierce, Director, Livestock Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250 as soon as possible for certification details. Completed applications for certification must be received by September 15, 1977, Pierce said.

The tobacco harvest is going right on schedule at the farm of Clint and Levi Rohrer, Lititz R2.

Tobacco growers

comparison to last year's crop.

Initially, the incidence of disease is down in the county. Few farmers report tobacco etch or black shank, although the aphids were prevalent.

The weight of this year's crop is heavier on the whole, as well. Growers estimate that they'll get anywhere from 1800 pounds to a ton per acre this year.

However, the excess weight has some downfalls, as well. The tobacco is harder to handle and the leaves break off the stem fairly easily. In fact, several growers report that their tobacco is "crisp" like lettuce, or brittle, which makes the handling difficult.

The plants have also grown so well in some cases that the leaves in neighboring rows intermingle so that the plants don't lay over properly when the stalks are cut.

And, the rain has put some growers behind schedule because sucker sprays weren't as effective as they could have been had the rains come further behind application.

But, on the whole, growers are optimistic about their healthy, heavy crops.

Now, if the stands can escape hail cutting, and if the tobacco cures well in the sheds, and if the price stays where it is, 1977 will definitely be a good tobacco year.

HOW TO GET MORE MILK FROM YOUR CORN SILAGE.

We don't have to tell you that you have a big investment in the crops you grow — in land, seed, labor, and some mighty expensive equipment. And with operating costs going up, it's more important than ever to get the most feeding value out of the crops you grow.

Beacon Silage Pre-Serv*, properly used, can be a real help. When you use Pre-Serv, you can harvest corn silage with as much as 60 to 65% moisture. Pre-Serv reduces oxidation and heat build-up and starts the fermentation going the right way. The result is highly palatable corn silage, with considerably more feeding value and about 10% more digestibility than untreated silage. There's 10% less shrinkage, and less wastage, too.

A small investment in Pre-Serv will bring you big dividends in milk production. Try it this year.

WHAT'S NEW

HYDRAULIC-POWERED SUBMERSIBLE PUMP

A new hydraulic-powered, submersible pump has been introduced by the Limb Lopper division of Robinson Industries. Model HSP-250 is reported to be the smallest, lightest and most powerful of its type, useful for a variety of situations requiring a small, efficient unit.

Suitable for any dewatering use and many fire fighting tasks, the new pump is particularly adapted to pumping out flooded underground vaults and equipment terminals. Its small size and light weight (8 inches by 11 inches, nine and a half pounds) permits passing the unit through vents and inspection ports.

Ease of operation and ready portability indicate wide application in pumping sumps, manholes, pools, storage tanks and for a variety of irrigation work.

The HSP-250 will pump 250 gallons per minute - up to 100 gallons at 100 feet of head. Design of the pump allows multiple units to be run in series or parallel to meet any volume or head requirement. Open or closed center hydraulic systems may be used to power the pump, including tractors, portable hydraulic power packs and mobile equipment units. The pump is fabricated from heavy-duty, heat-treated aluminum castings with heat-treated stainless steel impeller. The motor and valve parts are manufactured to precision tolerances, plus or minus .001 inches. The pump is self priming and completely submersible.

Quiet hydraulic power allows the Model HSP-250 to be used in any environment since it is spark, vapor and noise free. Hydraulic requirements range between four and seven gallons per minute, at pressures between 1,500 to 2,000 psi.

SOLAR GRAIN DRYING SYSTEM

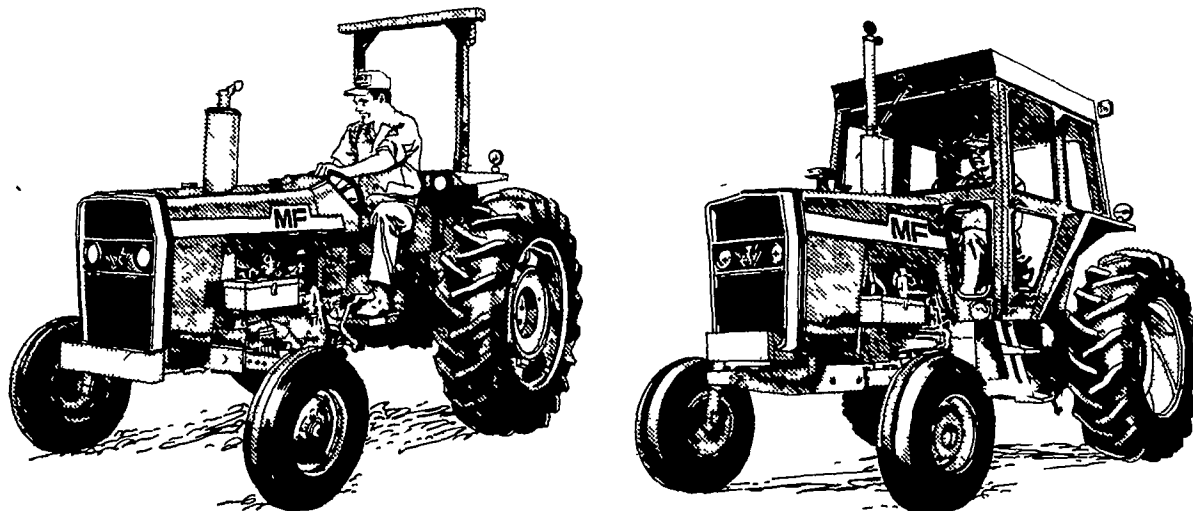

Specialty Metal Fabricators, Inc., of Minonk, Ill., recently introduced a new solar grain drying system called the "Kern'l-Komfort." This unit is designed to operate in conjunction with an aeration fan in round or flat grain storage to dry grain by reducing or eliminating fuel cost.

The manufacturer states, that under ideal sunlight conditions, the maximum drying output of the Kern'l-Komfort solar unit is equivalent to four gallons of LP gas per hour consumed by a high temperature fuel burning dryer. On cloudy or overcast days it operates at 50 per cent better efficiency and also reduces rain intake through the aeration fan on rainy days. A single solar drying system will handle a 10,000 to 12,000 bushel capacity storage unit.

The manufacturer further states that the Kern'l-Komfort solar grain drying system has been used successfully on various farm installations over six drying seasons. For further information contact: Specialty Metal Fabricators, Inc., 1032 Chestnut St., Minonk, Ill. 61760, Phone 309-432-2586.

BELT FEEDER

P & D Mfg. Co. Inc., is marketing a belt feeder with multi-lot feeding capabilities for beef and dairy operations. The continuously operating belt is fed from a hopper and is equipped with a plow which deposits feed into the bank. Optional multi-lot divider, control box and switches will allow feeding different rations to two, three, or four lots or more. The feeder uses no augers or brushes, has a separate instant reverse motor and operates with low horsepower requirements.

The low noise level belt feeder is said to deposit feed into the bunk with no sifting or separation and provides uniform distribution of silage, haylage, grain, supplements or almost any combination of ingredients. A galvanized, easily removeable metal canopy and side panels for wind protection are available as options.

Full details and literature are available from P & D Mfg. Co., Dept. B, Plainfield, Ill. 60544.

SWINE MEDICINE

A bacterin for use as an aid in the control of bordetella bronchiseptica infection in swine is being marketed by Chromalloy Animal Health of Omaha, Nebraska.

This bacterin, AR Bac, has USDA licensing, and is available to swine producers as a first line of defense against atrophic rhinitis.

The Chromalloy product is administered subcutaneously in the fold of the pig's flank at seven days of age as the pig is unable to respond to the vaccination until that age. Then a booster should be given at 28 days of age to cause maximum immunity. The bacterin is non-oily, chemically inactivated and incapable of transmitting the disease. It is a suspension of specially selected and highly immunogenic strain of bordetella bronchiseptica and is free from content causing adverse tissue reaction. AR Bac also has a very low potential for producing allergic reactions.

The product is available from the same animal health suppliers handling Armidexan, iron dextran injection, and it should be an answer to one of the more severe disease problems facing hog producers.

A warm day, a little bit of a breeze under the tent and trees, and a spectacular view of the Susquehanna River were a part of the Chiana Field Day held at Lauxmont Farms last Saturday.

Chianinas interest 750 at Lauxmont

By DIETER KRIEG
WRIGHTSVILLE - The Chianina breed of beef cattle is making its mark in America, according to information released at the Northeast Region Chianina Association Field Day held near here at Lauxmont Farms last Saturday. Although the Association has only 81 members, 39 of whom are in Pennsylvania, a record 750 or more people turned out for the day-long activities south of this York County town.

It was noted that Chianina blood was represented in more than 34 grand or reserve grand champions at national or state shows Chianina Breeding, for example, was present in all weight champions at the Pennsylvania Farm Show last January. In addition, Chianinas have won 12 major carcass shows across the nation.

It's this kind of performance which is kindling enthusiasm among those cattlemen who are already on the Chianina bandwagon while generating interest in others who are watching at the sidelines. Hundreds of them gathered at Lauxmont Farms last Saturday to see what Chianinas are all about. Among the nearly 800 visitors and guests were 4-H'ers and FFA members, and many of the activities taking place last Saturday were directed towards their interests. The schedule for the day included several hours of showing and judging, with prizes at stake that were valued up to $200.

Calling Chianina cattle the answer to man's search for a new excellence in the production of beef, promoters of the breed like to point out that the grand champion carcass (over all breeds) at the North American Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Ky. was sired by a Chianina for the past two years. The large

Lombard, a giant of a bull in more ways than one, attracted a lot of attention at the Northeast Region Chianina Field Day, held at Lauxmont Farms, overlooking the Susquehanna River south of Wrightsville.

James F. Mowry of Somerset placed second, and Harold Forrester of Chambersburg was third. Both of the contests that day pitted former and present champions against each other in their respective divisions.

In the small plow division, Myron Young of Chambersburg will carry the Pennsylvania colors to the national contest. He defeated John Hess of Dallastown and Harvey Sauder of New Holland on Wednesday for the chance to go to El Paso. Tuesday's placings in the small plow class are as follows: 1. John Hess, Dallastown; 2. Paul Hock, Shippensburg; 3. Mark Young, Chambersburg; 4. Dennis Leffler, Gretz; and Robert Foor, Berlin.

The state's best contour plowman is Bob Miller of Millersburg. Ron Martin of Chambersburg finished second, Robert Miller of Berlin was third, and Earl Carbaugh of McConnellsburg was fourth.

There is no national contour plowing division, so none of the above men will go to the national contest as a competitor.

Another master with the plows who was recognized on Wednesday is Frank Kocivar of Dauphin County. Kocivar, 74, is a national plowing champion and will represent the United States in world competition next month in Holland. He has won all three state championship divisions and received the "triple crown" award during a ceremony on Wednesday at the Ag Progress site.

The large outdoor agricultural exhibition is sponsored by Penn State University, in cooperation with farm machinery dealers and numerous agricultural agencies and organizations.

Nearly 200 commercial exhibitors exhibited approximately $10 million worth of equipment. Exhibitors pay fees for space at the Ag Progress Days site and those funds are used to stage the entire event. Most anything a farmer has or needs in his farming operation or home was on display. The theme for this year's big event was "Food, Energy and Your Future." Scores of demonstrations and educational exhibits were

Tomato crop down,

been deteriorating the crop in the fields. The crop is about ten days to two weeks early, he believes, and the tomato crop will be about 75 per cent of its potential this year. He hopes for cool dry weather to get a good harvest.

Warfel went on to say that the tomato price is depressed this year and stated that in his opinion part of the problem is due to too much welfare given in the nation. "It is hard for the canner to get a reasonable price for his product, and that makes a big difference in the price the farmer will get for his tomatoes", Warfel added.

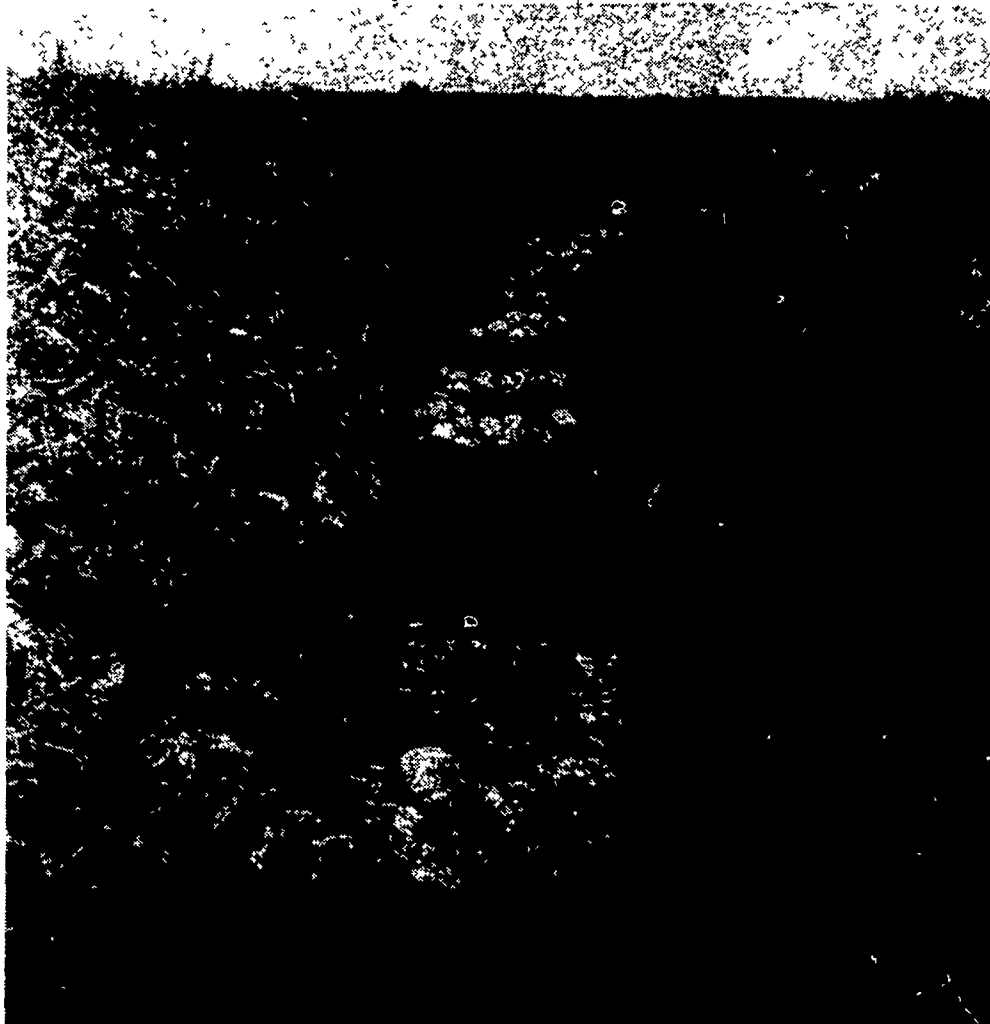

According to Charles Ressler who with his sons grow tomatoes there hasn't been much trouble with disease in the tomatoes this year due to the weather conditions, but he cautioned that in the next few weeks if the weather deteriorated, problems might arise. He also stated that it was hard for farmers to find people to work and help with the tomato harvest.

In Schuylkill County, Mrs. Howard Wehery, Klingers-town, speaking for her husband's crops, thought that they expect a good crop. They seem to have had enough rain and their biggest problem this year was corn borers in the tomato fields. The fields were sprayed for the problem, and she said they "hoped" they had it under control. The prices for tomatoes are the same as last year's prices in the area, according to Mrs. Wehery, who wished they would be higher.

John Heatherington, Ringtown, also spoke about the prices being the same as last year's, which he figures to be about a ten per cent cut, considering the rise of prices in other items. He also has a corn borer problem for the first year, and mentioned a weed problem with Morning Glories in some fields that were farmed for the first time in several years. He claimed his tomato harvest won't be as good this year as other years and that "this year just didn't seem to be a good year to grow tomatoes."

Tomato harvests began around the first of August and will continue throughout the late Summer and Fall until frost arrives.

The red in the baskets against the fields of green prove that tomato harvesting time is here as these baskets wait to be picked up and trucked to the packing house on the farm of Charles Ressler and Sons, Holtwood, Pa.

Weather-resistant RAMIK® Brown rodenticide keeps shape, freshness, taste, potency.

Count on a long period of excellent control.

Potent treatment costs little in comparison with loss of just a few of your trees.

What's one of your trees worth?
What will a bushel of fruit bring?

Figure what your loss would be from just one dead tree root-pruned or girdled and killed by orchard mice (pine or meadow voles)

Then figure the application of highly effective Ramik Brown weather-resistant rodenticide
You'll find Ramik well worth it!

Ramik bait is 26% protein

As food sources diminish after harvest, meadow voles go all out for highly palatable, apple-flavored, mouse-sized Ramik pellets . . . and leave your trees alone. Most other foods simply do not attract rodents as high-protein Ramik does

The quiet killer

Ramik Brown pellets contain a small amount of the well-known anticoagulant, diphacinone . . . a killing agent used by professional exterminators. Diphacinone thins out the blood so that the vole bleeds internally, painlessly, and dies

Because diphacinone is in such low concentration, the vole does not react violently. Ramik does not "signal" its killing ingredient. Chance of bait shyness is much lessened

Ramik lasts long, does the job

A special patented manufacturing process helps Ramik pellets retain shape, palatability and potency, even under high-moisture conditions. Also chemically treated for mold- and insect-resistance, weather-resistant Ramik keeps fresh over a comparatively long period

Get ready to bait with Ramik Brown

As it says on the label, apply Ramik pellets after harvest and before snow. Ramik will knock down the hungry vole population. Later, when the snow recedes, a second application can be made to control high density populations or the voles that may have reinfested the vacated tunnels.

Ramik is a pesticide. Handle it as you would any other orchard chemical. Never allow exposure of drums to non target species. Do not expose bait in small piles, or in a constricted pattern. The bait should be scattered evenly over the orchard floor at the rate specified on the label. Reseal any unused portion of the bait and store in a closed storage area

Registered for use only in Colorado, Idaho, Michigan, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia and Washington

Debbie Greider accepts a grand championship plaque from M. Paul Stovall, Jr., representing the Sears-Roebuck Co., sponsors of the award. In addition, the Columbia girl received a total of $200 in prize money for her champion Chianina-Angus crossbred steer.

white cattle, which are native to Italy, were introduced into the United States just six years ago and since that time some 64,000 cattle have been registered by the American Chianina Association, headquartered in Kansas City, Mo. Nationally, the organization has about 3300 members.

The Northeast Chianina Field Day, held at the picturesque Lauxmont Farms for the second consecutive year, gave special attention to youth last Saturday. Young breeders were invited to bring their animals and compete with others from all over the Northeast.

A Lancaster County girl, Debbie Greider, had the honor of showing the grand champion steer of the show, and won $200 as a result. Half of that prize money came her way because she had purchased the champion animal at the Northeast Regional Chianina Sale last Fall. It too is held annually at the impressive Lauxmont farm, which boasts its own circular sales pavilion. The farm has long been a show place, gaining national recognition some 30 or 40 years ago as the home of top quality Guernseys and Holsteins. For the last few years, however, it has been the home of the Dutchmen Hereford Company. The main farm — site of the Field Day — overlooks the Susquehanna River and offers spectacular views to visitors.

Miss Greider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greider, Columbia, competed for top honors with dozens of other contestants.

Jeff Kading of Millbrook, N.Y. finished as reserve grand champion. He also had the top heifer in the show.

Following are the results of the steer show, by weight class:

825 to 890 pounds

1. Janice Kaylor, Elizabethtown; 2. Tom Arnold, Lebanon; 3. Sarah Fretz, Zionsville; 4. Gerald Hess, Conestoga.

Ag Progress - something for everyone

By JOANNE SPAHR
ROCK SPRINGS, Pa. - There was a little something for every farmer - male, female, tall, or small - at Ag Progress Days this week.

While the majority of the men could be found sauntering through the machinery displays, moseying through the hay and silage shows, or ardently sizing up the plowing contestants, the most popular draw for the women appeared to be the family living demonstrations and the theater tent.

Just as the men watched the machinery of the future in action, the women viewed the futuristic microwave oven bake up candy and a scrambled egg in the wink of an eye.

In that tent, solar energy units were also on display, including one with a windmill to generate electricity. A variety of wood burning stoves, one model featuring experimental sawdust burning, were also out for spectators to view. New energy-saving appliances were demonstrated twice daily.

And, in a nearby theater tent, the games of the future turned out to be the games of the past, as spectators became wrapped up (literally) in string and wooden games for the family. Jerry H. Reyburn, associate professor ag extension 4-H, along with his children, showed spectators how to play entertaining folk games of the past, illustrating the fact that the simple string and handmade wooden games can be more fun than the elaborate plastic manufactured playthings of today.

"These are energy crunch games," Reyburn told his audience. "In the future we will have to return to doing things the way they were done several years ago."

That same tent, later in the day, was transformed into a theatre for the arts when one handy craftsman demonstrated chain saw sculpturing. Midst buzzing and flying sawdust, the ear protected artist shaped the form of a woman before the eyes of spectators.

For the person whose spice of life isn't art, but houseplants, Penn State specialists gave pointers from their latest home horticulture experiments.

Other events going on in the theater tent during the three-day event were tractor rollover safety, a USDA multi-media show, a demonstration on energy today and tomorrow, and a lecture on the effect of the new vehicle code on farmers.

And, while there were no animal events taking place at this field machinery dominated show, there was a livestock tent to cover that part of farming.

American La Mancha doe kids were probably the most unusual aspect of that tent. American La Manchas look like other goats, except for one thing - they don't have the long, hanging type ear normally associated with goats. As unnatural as the ears appeared, a sign on the pen read, "The ears are natural."

Other live animal displays in the tent were Chianina and Simmental cattle, live examples of the different yield grade types, and Penn State crossbred animals.

Sheep shearing, ultrasonics, and spinning and weaving were also demonstrated in the tent.

And, as could be expected, farm youth were also represented at Ag Progress. The 4-H, Future Farmers of America, and the Future Homemakers of America joined forces in one tent to show Ag Progress visitors what their organizations were all about. Extra added events put on by the youth included programs on rocketry, dog care and training, square dancing, bicycling, arts, and crafts, and horticulture.

And, for the wee folks who hope to grow into big farmers, but couldn't quite stay interested in the big farmers' exhibits, there was storytelling, flannelgraph, finger plays, ghost stories, and puppet shows.

Something for everyone, in other words.

Square dancing was an added extra of the youth tent at Ag Progress Days this week.

Kutztown sheep show results posted

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Berks County Reporter

KUTZTOWN, Pa. - The Kutztown Fair had a large turnout of livestock belonging to 4-H and FFA members this year. Many exhibitors came from Lehigh County to compete with their "local" Berks rivals.

Gail Snyder of Lehigh 4-H took many first place ribbons home with her. Gail was champion in lightweight market sheep, placing first in all three lightweight classes, and was first in showmanship and fitting in her age classes. Marlyn Stroh III, also from Lehigh was another familiar name at the top of several lists of winners. Marlyn had the champion heavyweight and grand champion market sheep and was first in his showmanship class.

Judging the sheep show as well as the market steer and swine shows was Henry Gruber, a buyer for A&B Packing. Gruber also judged the fitting and showmanship competition in the three livestock species. Results follow:

A cross between wheat and rye. Protein content and yields are much better than wheat. Is tall, hardy and fast growing like rye, and earlier for early silage to clear ground for second crop. If you sow for cover crop then take your choice, plow down or let stand for a grain crop.

Handling some outstanding organic fertilizer and soil conditioners—some new, some older and well proven locally. Users are getting excellent drought, blight, insect and disease resistant crops with little or no fertilizer. Soil is loose, works easy, less run off and erosion. Resulting crops have more feed value, especially protein. Cows do better on unsprayed alfalfa and only costs a few dollars an acre. If you don't want to stop spending money for fertilizer, you can at least reduce with these economical soil conditioners and have better soil, better crops especially in adverse weather. It cost nothing to try. We won't always have ideal weather. Prepare ahead! Apply humates and minerals in the fall, and treat your seed.

We also handle the fantastic Naturmin M42-G natural, mined mineral for livestock and poultry feeding. Supplies the missing elements. Animals are satisfied without chewing wood, picking vents, biting tails, and fighting, digging earth, needing iron shots and drugs, getting sick. They just lay down, relax, farrow and calve easy, and make more meat or milk on less feed. Amazing but well proven nationwide and local. Also excellent for humans. Free literature. Fretz and Snyder show top sheep

Berks County Reporter
ALLENTOWN

Highlighting the sheep show at the Allentown Fair this year was Sarah Fretz, of Pocket Valley Farms, Zionsville. This young lady had the grand champion ram, a Hampshire ram lamb, sired by Rocketeer.

The grand champion ewe went to a Polled Dorset from Schochary Ridge Farms, New Tripoli. The Ewe was shown by Gregory Snyder and was a September 2 year old.

Delaware Valley College had the champion ewe in the Cheviot show, John Arrell Jr. of Lincoln University was the big winner with the ram classes. Renee Harris of Stillwater was a strong contender for honors, capturing several first places.

In Dorset classes, Gregory Snyder of New Tripoli showed both the male and female champions. Snyder dominated the show for the most part, with wins in most classes. His stiffest competition came from the Lehigh County FFA Chapter and Mary Preston of North Catasauqua.

Hampshire banners were won by Sarah Fretz and David Lytle, New London. Lytle exhibited the champion ewe. Myron Ritter of Kutztown, Marilyn Stroh II of Breinigsville and Delaware Valley College were in contention as well, with each bringing home some blue ribbons.

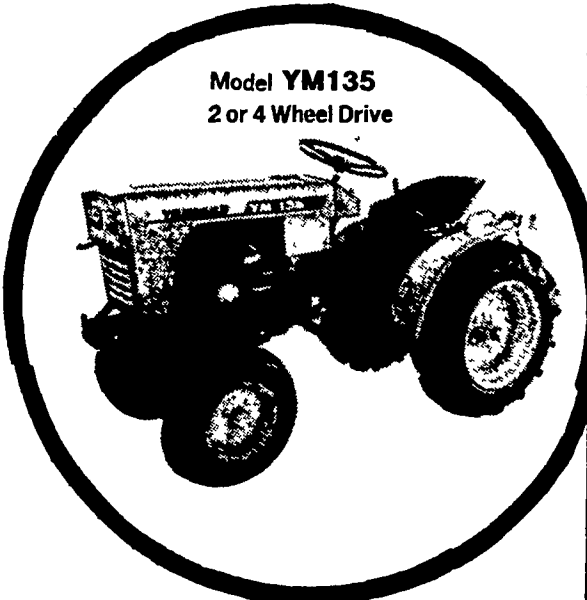

Kathy Shade of Seipstown and Greg Snyder of New Tripoli exhibited this champion.

Susan, and Keith Breininger of New Tripoli and Scott and Dwayne Reinert of Slatington competed for the ribbons in the Shropshire show, but when it was all over, Susan Breininger emerged with the two top awards. She had both the ram and ewe champions of the contest.

Michael Bankert of Dallastown and Myron Ritter of Kutztown shared blue ribbons in the South-down show, although the Berks County youth captured the two champion spots.

The Suffolk show as a more wide open contest, with Keith Breininger, Wayne Bankert of Red Lion, William McCauley Jr. of Atglen, Connie Unger of Northampton, R.A. Daniels of New Hope, and Delaware Valley College, competing for the ribbons. McCauley merged as champion in most contests, including the two championships.

Dr. Lee Miller, father of Pam, won the plaque for having come the closest in a weight guessing contest. He guessed 1172 pounds for a heifer which tipped the scales at 1174.

Included in the cattle shows were showmanship and fitting contests, all of which were judged by Knick Overpec of Clinton, Ind. He offered constructive criticism to all exhibitors, pointing out their strong and weak points. He, among others, repeatedly praised the 4-H'ers and FFA'ers for their fine efforts and expressed confidence in leaving the future in their hands.

Results of the showmanship contest follow:

Senior division

(14 years and over)

1. Bob Miller, Woodsboro, Md.; 2. David Wylie, Nottingham; 3. Don Glass, Millbrook, N.Y.; 4. Jeff Kading, 5. Janice Kaylor.

Another feature of the field day was a judging contest. Cape Horn Tack and Feed Store, Red Lion R2 provided a trophy for the top judge in the youth division and a pair of boots of his choice. The value of boots ran as high as $200, noted Jim Glass, president of the Northeast Chianina Association.

Taking home that prized pair of boots was Doug Demper of Dauphin who scored 196 points out of a possible 200. Bob Livingstone of York placed second. In team competition, the Lehigh County group finished first. Team members were Diane Krause, Sarah Fretz, Joe Sikorsky and alternate Grant Glass. The York County team placed second.

In the youth division of the judging contest, Jean Fretz of Breinigsville was first and Ed Kading of West Chester was second.

Bill Holloway, husband of Pat, was the champion judge in the men's division, edging runner-up Gerald Hess of Lancaster.

Rounding out the activities of the day were a Chianina barbecue lunch, with the three-quarter blood Chianina steer donated by Harold Gross and sons of Manchester, and a fun auction immediately following which raised nearly $200 from the sale of such items as quilts, geese, cakes, and paintings. The quilt donated by Mr. and Mrs. James Glass of Millbrook, N.Y. was the high-selling item, commanding $300 from Peter Rhulen, also from New York State. Proceeds of the sale will be used to further develop programs of the Association.

The Northeast Regional Chianina Sale, it was announced, will be held on Nov. 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the sales pavilion at Lauxmont Farms. All animals will be halter broken and will include: 15 head of Chianina breeding cattle, 40 head of Chianina club steers, and 15 head of Chianina club heifers.

STOVER STACKS WORK!

HESSTON
CORPORATION

Farmers, Research Scientists, and Extension Specialists all agree harvesting and controlled feeding of crop residues minimize livestock winter feeding costs.

The Hesston StakHand and Round Balers along with the handling and feeding equipment are helping to stir up more interest in harvesting what has been called a low cost roughage.

In most cases, however, crop residues do not provide a complete ration for wintering livestock. Listed here is a nutritive value comparison and several ration variations as suggested by Iowa State University.

from a functional line organization to one structured along product lines.

In the new organizational format, Lehigh has been restructured into three major divisions. They are: Manufactured Products Division, under supervision of vice president Robert Keller; the Dairy Division, under vice president Harold Masteller; and the Services and Control Division, under vice president Bart Patten.

"We are confident that under the new organizational set-up, Lehigh will be in a far better position to respond more quickly to the needs of our retail customers, to offer better service to them and to enable us to become more competitive and aggressive in our marketing," Barry stated.

"It will also enable our manufacturing elements to perform more effectively and efficiently under the $1 million plant and equipment improvement program we currently have underway," he added.

The Manufactured Products Division includes production of ice cream, other frozen desserts and cultured products, and hard cheese. The division will also be responsible for sales of frozen desserts and hard cheese products, and for plant engineering and automotive maintenance.

The Dairy Division brings together all facets of packaging and sales of fluid milk and cultured products. It will also be responsible for operations at Lehigh's Schuylkill Haven and Lansdale plants.

The Services and Control Division centralizes financial services and controls, field services to Lehigh's farmer-members, and personnel activities.

A Director of Quality Control will be named shortly, with responsibility for supervision of maintenance of quality standards for all LeHi products, Barry said.

Ensil-Ate Works!

HERE'S PROOF!

Clair Myers & Son Wayne - Galawn Farms
RD6 Dover, PA York County

"Last year we hosted the Dover Young Farmers for the annual Field Day at our farm. At that time we filled two identical silos with corn silage and treated one silo with Master Mix Ensil-Ate. We sent samples to the lab but we didn't need a lab report to tell us which silage the cows preferred! Our cows definitely preferred the treated silage and milked better. You can bet we are going to treat our silage with Ensil-Ate again this year!"

— Clair Myers

Lynn Wolf - Gerrilynn Farm
RD 1 Abbottstown, PA York County

"I plan to use Ensil-Ate this year on all my silage. Last year I compared it to another preservative but the cows told me which one they preferred."

Phil Risser points out the Chateaugay Valley as Cherri Gochnauer and Robert Swarr reminisce about their exchange trip.

Canadian trip broadened world for 4-H members

HOMESTEAD NOTES

By SALLY BAIR
Feature Writer

LANCASTER, Pa. - "You get to meet so many different people on a trip like this. The people in Canada really acted themselves and accepted us as we were. They acted like they had known you all their lives." With these words, Missy Grube, 14, Elm, summed up the feelings of the Lancaster County 4-H'ers who participated on a one-week exchange program with young people from the Chateaugay Valley region in the province of Quebec, Canada.

Thirty-five teenagers and five 4-H leaders were involved in this educational trip, and of those contacted for their comments the young people seemed truly pleased at the openness with which they were received in the homes of their Canadian hosts.

Lashon Bussell, Manheim R1, agreed with Missy's evaluation, "It was like they were your own family. They didn't try to make a good impression. I liked everything about the exchange."

"The most important thing about the exchange," Phil Risser, Leola R1, said, "Is that we learned to know the people there. They are about the same as anyone else - they're not any better or any worse, but just ordinary people."

"Really outgoing" is the way Cherri Gochnauer, Lancaster, described her Canadian hosts. "Everyone was so outstanding and sincere. It was just great to live in their culture for a week."

For most of the participants in the trip, the short journey across the border had the effect of making them feel like they were in a foreign country. According to Clyde Aument, a leader in the Solanco Community Club, "We felt we were in a foreign country because they money was different, and there were definite cultural differences between the people of Quebec and us."

Furthermore, there was a difference in languages, despite the fact that the Lancaster countians visited in an English speaking section of the province. All signs were in both English and French, and several of the 4-H'ers told of incidents in stores where they were first addressed in French. Aument said proudly, "I learned five French words while I was there." Karen Hostetter, Manheim R1, said, "I learned a little bit of French."

Mrs. Carol Henkel, Strasburg, pointed out that while all communications were spoken in English, she found some very ordinary store items which were printed in both English and French: corn flakes boxes, for instance carried both languages.

For Jay Nissley, Manheim R5, however, the language problem was more immediate - he was the only member of the group to live with a French speaking family. He said, "They spoke all French, except when they spoke to me." But, it was pointed out, all families are bilingual, speaking at ease in either language, with children learning English in the schools.

The Lancaster countians took their share of kidding about the way they pronounced words. According to 16-year-old Sandy Hamilton, Lampeter, "They teased us about the way we talked. They used very proper English expressions, and often ended a sentence by saying, 'ay'."

The ancestry of these Canadians was Scotch-Irish, which may have accounted for some of the inflection in their speaking.

Farming in this province just 20 miles over the New York border was quite different from farming in Lancaster County. Jim Stauffer, Lancaster R2, explained, "My host family had their farm surveyed and there was just 10 inches difference from one corner of their land to the other. It was really flat."

Because of this flatness, all good productive agricultural land must be drained by tiles. Aument explained that the plastic tiles are laid about 12 feet apart and the water is drained into the river. "Otherwise, the water would lay in the fields like a pool," he said.

Aument said the farms were spaced differently from here. "The farms seemed to be relatively close together, and seemed to be in more of a set pattern. They average about 150 acres." The 4-H'ers described the farms as "ribbon farms," with the land extending in a long row behind the buildings. Lashon said, "Before there was modern transportation, it was important for each farmer to have access to the river for transporting his goods."

The Chateaugay Valley is mainly dairy region, with some vegetable farming, mostly contracted for by Gree Giant Foods. The 4-H'ers reported that their Canadian hosts were having their first sweet corn when they were there from August 6 through August 13. The growing season is shorter, forcing them to grow 90 day corn. Aument said, "Their corn looked good and is used mostly as silage. Some years they get high moisture corn." Mrs. Henkel, a 4-H leader, observed, "They can grow alfalfa, but they usually get only a couple of cuttings and if they get a third cutting, they think that is really great." On Jay Nissley's host farm he said his host grew corn, hay, sorghum, and an oats and corn mixture. He said, "The crops were about the same, only shorter season." Aument observed, "The machinery was much like ours with the same brands."

The price of land is not nearly so high as here. Jim Stauffer estimated that land cost between $200 and $500 an acre with price going higher for drained land. There was a lot of rocky land in evidence, left behind by a glacier, and Phil Risser explained the

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

So you think you've got problems? Well, some days, so do I. And then I hear the following stories, told to me three days in a row by other farm wives - and I know that we're all in this crazy farm wife sorority together:

Farm Wife A was entertaining her Society of Farm Women group when she received a strange telephone call. Thought it was a "crank call" at first. Then caller informed the farm wife that her farmer had issued a call for help over his CB. Seems he had checked the empty house on a second farm and heard a door close upstairs as he entered. The daughter, tending the family produce business, left to go for help. Meanwhile, local police picked call up over monitor, contacted state troopers and also went for help. Wife, stranded at home, is trying to serve refreshments to Society visitors, tend the produce business, and answer several phone calls, while frantically seeking information on her husband. Vandals in empty house finally rounded up by police and things returned to normal - whatever that is in a farm household.

Farm Wife B rose early to help with milking chores and to get ready for day-long 4-H activities. Prepared a chicken for that night's dinner (people who plan that far ahead leave me feeling brainless!). Placed butter on turned-off (she thought) stove burner, and rushed to basement to tend laundry. Came back upstairs to find pan of butter in flames, and the heat searing the finish on a brand new cabinet in her just-remodeled kitchen.

"It absolutely doesn't pay to try to do too many things at once," was her reminder to all of us who do the same thing all the time.

Farm Wife C had taken the first steps with her children in becoming involved with a 4-H animal project. While watching them handle the animals one evening after several days of practicing, she suddenly felt discouraged.

"If you win a ribbon, I'll give you 10 dollars," she offered by way of encouragement. No one tells first-year 4-H mothers that judging is done on the Danish system, whereby everyone receives a ribbon. Show day finds both youngsters placing near the top of their classes, much to the entire family's delight. But the small son has not forgotten an earlier promise.

Sauntering up to his mother from across the show arena, he dangled the blue ribbon before her eyes.

"Now, how was that again about 10 dollars for winning a ribbon? he reminded.

Anyone for a nice dull week pushing buttons on an assembly line??

Loans Listed for past year

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Cooperative Farm Credit System loaned more than $37 billion to farmers and their cooperatives in the year ended June 30, and had more than $40 billion in loans outstanding on that date, the Farm Credit Administration reported recently.

short - and intermediate-term items.

The volume of money loaned by the System was up nearly 14 per cent from the year before; and the amount outstanding, up 15.6 per cent.

The increases were attributed mainly to escalating farm land prices and costs of financing commodities held by marketing cooperatives.

Short - and intermediate-term lending by units of the System increased during the year, but by a smaller percentage than during the previous year. Farmers slowed down borrowing for new equipment and other they don't have solid bedrock as this area has.

While dairy regulations are about the same, it was observed that much of the milking was done in stanchion barns with a dumping station. But milk marketing differs, according to Aument. He said, "They operate within a quota, and they are fined if they produce too much or too little milk." He added that sometimes farmers make cheese with milk which exceeds their quota, but that is illegal, if they are caught they are fined. Barns are generally unpainted, but whitewashed and clean inside.

The friendliness which was extended to the American visitors apparently is in evidence among neighbors all the time. Mrs. Henkel noted, "I noticed a closeness of community spirit and cooperation that is different. They help each other on neighboring farms." She attributed this to climactic conditions which cause more severe winters, and to the fact that the area is much more rural than here. Jim agreed, "They are so friendly to each other. Here we seem to be competing with each other." His brother Jay said, "It was a good experience to see how they helped their neighbors—they were more outgoing."

According to Jenise Kauffman, Elizabethtown, "Yes, they're more relaxed people. The environment is different. I could feel it, but I can't describe it." She added, "It's a good experience to meet different people. The people up there were really nice. It was worthwhile indeed. I think the best part was getting to know the Canadian people and their way of living."

Jenise said she got many questions about the Amish and Mennonite sects, and found the people to be really interested in Lancaster county."

Aument agreed that there was a lot of interest in this country. "Because they get American television they know everything about us. I don't think we understand their problems because they are political problems."

Mrs. Henkel said, "We had very good food, and they cook most of it from scratch. They did a lot of baking from the beginning. To me it was like I cook and really good. We had really good meals, very basic." Other 4-H'ers agreed, and several boys said breakfast was an especially good meal. Phil had the unique experience of tasting goat milk. He lived on a dairy farm, but the family kept a goat just for their milk to drink.

The local 4-H'ers were hosted by Young Farmers in Canada. The Young Farmers range to age 25, although after 21 they no longer show animals. The range of projects, according to local 4-H'ers was not as broad as in our 4-H program, featuring mostly dairy, beef, and vegetables. Horse clubs were separate units, and only one girl lived in a family which carried sewing projects.

Karen Hostetter was enthusiastic, "I got to meet a lot of great people and learn how they live. The experiences were different—things you don't normally come across. I really liked it a lot." And an added benefit for Karen was getting to know the Lancaster 4-H'ers better. "I knew most of them but I got a lot closer to them on the trip. Cherri concurred, "By the end of the day of traveling you knew everybody!"

It is difficult to pinpoint the value of such a trip, but Carol Henkel said, "It was interesting to be in an area with two languages and in a culture which is influenced by us. They did not care so much about material things, and often socialized in Winter through sports." She said curling was a major sport in that province.

Aument concluded, "A trip like this is worthwhile. It was interesting to see how the rest of the world lives."

Next year, Lancaster 4-H clubs will have the opportunity to return the same hospitality extended to them by the Canadians when a group of young people from the Chateaugay Valley visits in this county.

and white and colored photos, not less than 5 inches by 5 inches, will be judged.

Fulton Grange meets

QUARRYVILLE - Fulton Grange 66 met August 22, at the Grange Hall, Oakryn. The Master, Thomas Galbreath, conducted the business session.

A donation was given toward the construction of a multi-purpose center in Costa Rica which the National Grange Women's Activities committee has adopted as the CARE project for 1976-77. Also a cash donation was given the National Grange fund for the educational and research programs for the deaf and hearing impaired, in addition to the grange collecting used hearing aid batteries. The Women's Activities committee is also collecting used eye glasses for the United States vision care project around the world.

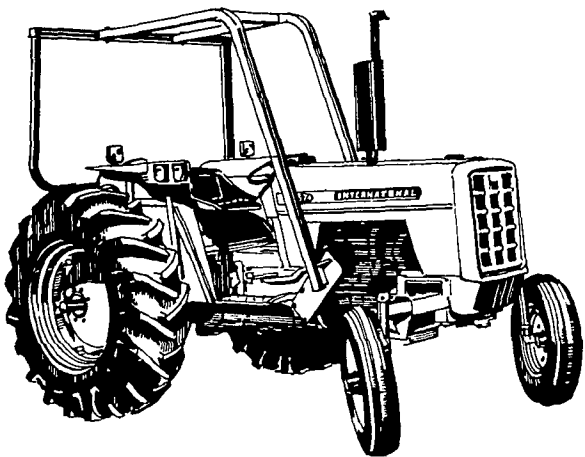

Charles McSparran reported the Grange bus to Washington, D.C. October 7 and 8 is filled and names are being received only on a stand-by basis for the trip.

The Grange Senior citizens are holding an Acme luncheon, September 22.

The annual election of officers will be held at the next meeting September 12. Mrs. Owen Groff will be in charge of a short program and will conduct an art and a photo contest. In the art contest the classes will include: oils and acrylics, water colors, drawing and pastels, and posters. Black

Peaches, peaches, peaches. Now is the time of the year to enjoy this juicy, succulent fruit, so this week we are featuring 10 different ways of preparing it.

Although this juicy, delicious taste treat usually is eaten as soon as it reaches the kitchen, there will be occasions during the pick-your-own season or during a bargain day at the fruit market when you will over-buy and get home to find a basket of peaches that will slowly become over-ripe before anyone's appetite can get to them.

To remedy this situation, Mrs. Ruth Ruoss sends along this suggestion:

If you have over-ripe, soft peaches, you can salvage them in a delightful puree. It makes a delicious topping for ice cream and other desserts.

Divide peaches into two lots according to degree of bruising. Use ripest, softest fruit. Dip peaches in boiling water for 30 seconds. Cool in running water and remove skins. Place in a bowl of salted water (about two and one half tablespoons to a gallon) while you trim and pit peaches.

Mash drained fruit with a mesh-type potato masher. Four to five average - sized peaches make three cups puree. To this quantity, add

1/4 teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid to prevent discoloration. Add one package powdered pectin, stir to dissolve. Let stand 15 minutes, stirring. Add three cups sugar, and stir to dissolve completely. Remove peel, pits, and bruised spots from less bruised fruit in same way. But, instead, of mashing, cut each peach in 12 slices and then run the knife around the center of the fruit to cut slices in halves.

Fill pint-sized glass or other freezer containers with equal parts peach puree and slices mixed together lightly. Cover, label, and date, and freeze.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

As we near the end of August, I'm sure many families are preparing to send a child off to college. I well remember how difficult it was for me to send my first child away and break the family circle, and I imagine it will be just as emotional when the last one leaves.

But as for now, our fourth child will be starting her senior year at Penn State in Food Science. She has had a wonderful Summer job with Hershey Foods in their research laboratories and is looking forward to her last year of college. This year will be different in that she and several other girls have rented a three bedroom house and will need many appliances.

The time that I enjoy my garden the most is when there are no big crops to be harvested. What I mean is when I can pick a few cucumbers, some beans, a handful of flowers and maybe pull a few weeds here and there.

She convinced me that I needed a new Mixmaster - then she could have the old one. And the same thing happened with my iron.

However, she did buy herself a sewing machine as I wasn't willing to part with mine. As much as she likes to cook, she's hoping she won't turn out to be the chief cook and bottle washer for the group.

xxx

But when I get a basket of tomatoes from three plants and end up carrying six baskets of tomatoes to the back porch three times a week that is just plain work. Although, what I do is not only cultivate my garden, but I also cultivate customers and potential customers for my produce all year long.

Surge
Mini-Cup II

Surge Mini-Cup II

The Mini-Cup II is precision balanced to give you fast, gentle milking at every quarter. Its full 38 cu. in. bowl capacity permits excellent milk flow visibility. The extra large bowl also breaks the column of milk. This helps prevent backwashing of teats which can cause mastitis to spread from one quarter to another in smaller claw-type milkers.

Other new features include a high volume milk outlet which improves capacity and minimizes vacuum fluctuation; a new milking action that's the result of soft pulsation, new shells, and new inflations; in-place or tank type washing; plus optional milk-outlet shut-off.

These features and extra capacity are mighty important to higher production and better herd health. So compare facts. Milk with it. Feel the balance. See the difference a higher capacity unit makes. It's the claw-type big enough to do the job, but small enough to make it easy.

Thinking of Leasing or Renting your Tractor Power?

Here's the long and the short of it!

The Long—That's the Case Lower Payment Lease Plan. A lease program of up to 60 months for qualified customers. Many find leasing more attractive than ownership depending on their tax bracket and expansion plans. Taking the lease payment off the top of your operating expense often saves more than the usual interest, tax and depreciation deductions.

Plus—When you lease you don't tie up capital in equipment. Payment schedules can be tailored to your cash flow. We will purchase your existing equipment and lease you new replacements which can be exchanged if your power needs change.

The Short—Renting your tractor power by the week or month is an ideal way to boost your production during busy seasons.

Match your work schedule with two or four wheel drive tractors, and when you're done just bring the tractor back. No long term commitment in money or machine. Warning! You could fall in love with your Case Rental Tractor. Contact your participating Case dealer for availability of certain units.

For additional information on Case Finance Plans, write J I Case Company, Dept. AG/CCC, 700 State Street, Racine, WI 53404.

Plan ahead, long term and short, with the farm power you need from Case.

NORTHCO CAGE LAYING SYSTEMS

Good to the last bird

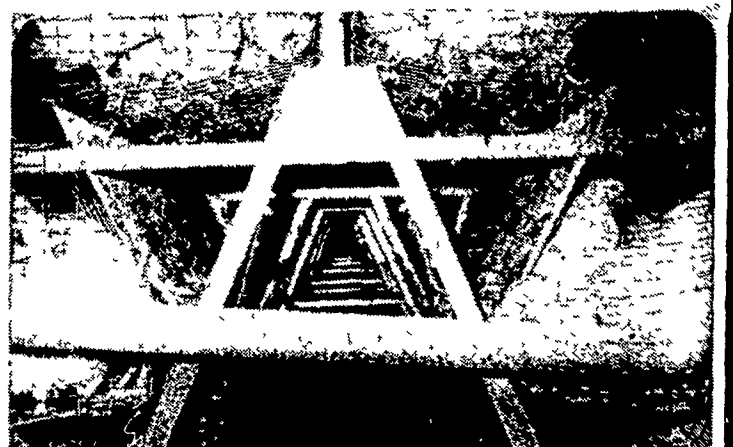

HORIZONTAL CAGE FEEDER

There's no need for a feed mixing wheel in the hopper because Northco's core auger continually mixes the feed along the entire feed line. That means Northco's Cage Feeder helps insure that all your birds get the same ration. The cage feeder drive unit uses simple sprockets and chain. Simple design means reduced wear, fewer mechanical problems and longer equipment life.

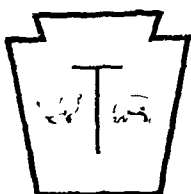

VINYL DROPPING SHIELDS

eliminate the headaches of dropping boards and dropping board scrapers. Manure slides off the dropping shields and into the pit.

JULY 1977

Mervin Horst and Clarence Mase own the top butterfat and milk producing cows, respectively, for 305-day lactations completed in July. Horst's cow compiled a record of 21,231 pounds of milk with a 4.4 per cent test and 937 pounds of butterfat to catch the butterfat crown. Mase's cow got the milk production honor with her tally of 23,559 pounds of milk, a 3.2 per cent test and 746 pounds of butterfat.

Following is a list of the cows in Lebanon County's DHIA program which completed records exceeding 600 pounds of butterfat.

New hatchery to be built

NEW HOLLAND - Longenecker's Hatchery, Inc., Elizabethtown, Pa. and Victor F. Weaver, Inc., New Holland, Pa. have jointly announced their intentions to construct and operate a new 34,000 square foot hatchery to be located on a portion of the John Garber Farm in Mount Joy Township. Construction will begin immediately.

Longenecker's Hatchery, Inc. will be leasing the new facility from Weaver and undertake management of the modern hatchery fully equipped to handle 500,000 chicks per week. The addition of the new hatchery will almost double the current capacities of Longenecker's Hatchery, Inc. Approximately 80 per cent of the chicks from the new facility will be contracted to Victor F. Weaver, Inc.

Construction of the $1.5 million facility is scheduled to be completed by January, 1978.

DON'T LET THE FLIES TAKE OVER YOUR BUSINESS Kill flies faster than they breed with FLYGON® Electric Fly Killer

The Flygon ultra-violet light is coupled with our original Spectral-Glo panel to create a daytime indoor or outdoor visual exciter that flies flock to from as far away as they can see it. And when they hit those electric grids, Flygon Killer sparks 'em dead.

Dairy operators, cattle and hog raisers, food processors, poultry and egg factories, restaurants, hospitals, can't take chances with toxic sprays or fogging. Flygon units are kind to the environment. No traces of chemicals in food, animals, or humans. And no fly ever developed an immunity to electricity.

Properly placed and installed, Flygon units will reduce any confined fly population to an almost unnoticed few. And keep it that way, because Flygon units can actually kill flies faster than they can reproduce.

Build your own pre-starter ration for half the cost.

Feed Creep Wean No. 3

If you're in the business of farrowing pigs, there is only one sure way to save on feed costs — right from the start. That's why Vigortone developed Creep Wean No. 3.

This highly fortified pre-mix makes it possible for you to build your own 18% pre-starter ration for about half the cost of a commercial product.

You'll be surprised how much easier it is to get baby pigs on feed fast with this freshly ground ration and how trouble free they stay right on through weaning.

Save big on Vigortone's starter, growing and finishing rations, too.

The reasons for the superior performance of Vigortone fortified corn-soy rations are simple: the pigs are assured the essential balance of amino acids and the proper levels of major minerals, trace minerals and vitamins all the way to market; and you only pay out-of-pocket for ingredients you don't grow on your own farm.

Better feed conversion means lower cost

Each Vigortone corn-soy feeding program has been designed to promote better feed conversion and lower costs. If you'd like more information, see your nearest Vigortone serviceman soon.

Grain companies challenge cooperative loan decision

WASHINGTON, D.C. - A group of independent grain companies have gone to court to challenge the Secretary of Agriculture's decision permitting grain marketing cooperatives to obtain federal price support loans in behalf of their members.

As a result, a federal judge in Topeka, Kansas, has issued a temporary restraining order preventing implementation of USDA loan eligibility regulations for cooperatives, pending hearings in September.

The class action suit, filed by Hiatt Grain and Feed, Inc., Munden, Kansas, in behalf of some 1,200 grain companies, contends that the price support loans would provide cooperatives with unlimited funds at low interest rates on grain pooled by their farmer members.

Cooperatives leaders point out that funds from price support loans must be distributed to participating producers, and not be retained by the cooperative.

This challenge to the cooperative loan program is an outgrowth of a newly-formed Kansas Corporation known as "Form G Litigation, Inc." The corporation's objective is to work through the courts for cancellation of the loan program.

Form G Litigation has made mailings to independent grain companies expressing concern over the "new competition" which they'll receive from the loan program. The organization has launched a fund-raising campaign to initially raise $500,000 for hiring law firms to carry out its legal action.

Kenneth D. Naden, president, National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, said that cooperatives view the grain companies' action as a serious move. "Many feel that this is a declaration of war by independent grain companies against farmers' efforts to market their grain cooperatively," he added.

The NCFCA president noted that the USDA program gives grain producers and their cooperatives the same market opportunities that producers of soybeans, cotton, rice, and honey have had for many years.

"It also permits cooperatives," said Naden, "to more effectively compete in international grain marketing, one of the reasons we welcomed the program when it was announced by Secretary Bergland."

Under the restraining order, cooperative applications for price support loans will be allowed to be processed, but not approved.

4-H dairy roundup held at York Fairgrounds

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

YORK, Pa. - Dairy project members of 4-H in York County converged upon the York fairgrounds on August 16 for the annual roundup. Judge M. Thomas Shaeffer, of Huntsdale Stock Farms, Carlisle R5, placed the approximately 100 entries in five breed divisions. Ginger Sechrist, Franklin County dairy person, selected fitting and showing winners from each class.

Young Jana Beth Fantom, Delta R2, picked up her second grand and junior championship in a row with her junior Brown Swiss. At the recent Dallastown Fair, Jana Beth, in her first year or 4-H, walked away with top honors in the Brown Swiss breed. The reserve grand and junior champion Brown Swiss, a senior calf, belonged to Tommy Welsh, East Berlin R1.

A four-year-old Guernsey took the grand and senior champion rosettes for Brian Lehman, York 11. Brian has been showing "Harriet" for three years, since she became his as a junior calf. The 12-year-old is in his fourth year of 4-H and owns four Guernseys.

Darryl Rohrbach, New Freedom R1, exhibited the reserve grand and senior winning Guernsey, a two-year-old cow that took junior division reserve champion earlier this year at the Farm Show.

Top honors in the Jersey division were captured by brothers Mike and Joey Welsh, East Berlin R1. Mike Welsh exhibited the grand and junior champion, an intermediate calf. The reserve grand and junior champion, owned by Joey Welsh, previously won top district awards.

Joey Welsh also exhibited a three-year-old Ayrshire to championship in that breed division.

Sixteen-year-old Patty Greek, Delta R2, took her first grand championship after three years of dairy showing when her two-year-old swept the honors in the Holstein division. Judge Shaeffer commented after placing the young animal at the top of the classes that he "just liked that cow a lot."

Peter King, Delta R2, finished with reserve senior and grand champion, also a two-year-old.

Junior Holstein champion went to an intermediate calf exhibited by James Knight, Airville R2, with David King, Delta R2, capturing the reserve junior championship with a junior yearling.

Two families dominate Kutztown Jersey shows

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Berks County correspondent
KUTZTOWN - Lewis Ayres, vo-ag instructor at Ephrata High School, and an accomplished coach of his school's FFA dairy cattle judging teams which have won national recognition on several occasions, picked the champions at this year's colored dairy breed shows at the Kutztown Fair. Most of the exhibitors were young in the various contests, and the results were therefore often duplicated in both junior and open divisions.

Following are highlights and placings of the Jersey shows.

The Robert Dreisbach family of Hamburg and the Andriens of Coatesville walked off with all the trophies in this event. Denise and Bruce Andrien had the grand and reserve grand champions, respectively, in the junior show, as well as the junior and reserve junior champs, in that order. Top honors in the open classes belonged to Dr. and Mrs. Dreisbach. Denise Andrien had the reserve junior and reserve senior champ.

The PROVEN Fickes

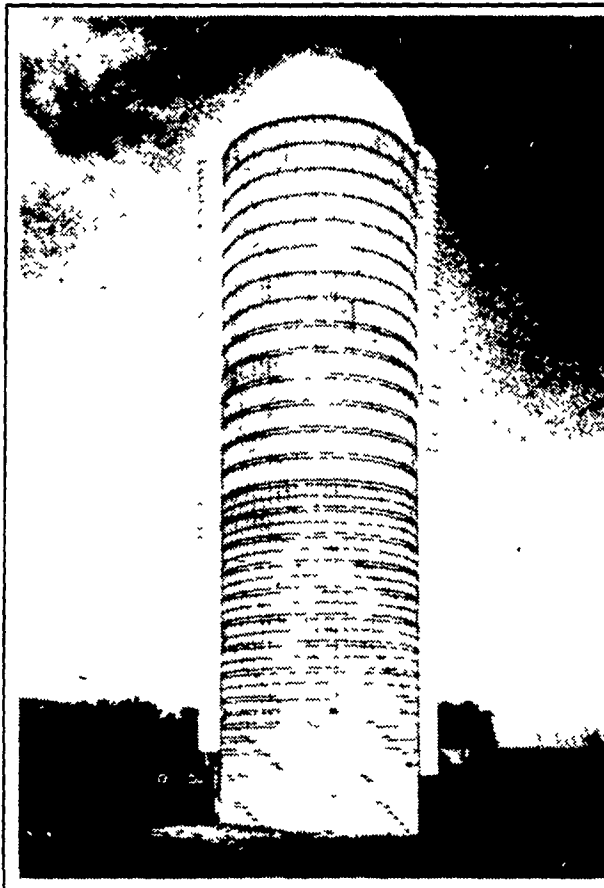

MASTER-MATIC SILO SYSTEM

Master-Matic is the proven automatic silage handling system first introduced in the eastern United States by Fickes over a year ago. There's no longer any need to enter the silo. Once filled, the silo can be unloaded from top to bottom—automatically. The Silo-Matic Continuous-door Unloader moves down the continuous doors to unload haylage, corn silage or high moisture corn. It operates effectively, efficiently and without mechanical problems.

The Fickes-Master-Matic Silo System offers you:
CONVENIENCE—Puts an end to the chore of climbing the silo every few days.
TIME-SAVING—Keeps you out of the silo so you can spend your time to more profitable advantage.
CLEAN ENTRY CHUTE—Continuous door chute used for unloading. Second chute doors remain in place always clean.

SILLO-MATIC CONTINUOUS-DOOR SILO UNLOADER
This exclusive unloader design has been in use on continuous door silos for more than a year. It has been thoroughly tested and proved under farm operating conditions with haylage, corn silage and high moisture corn. The Silo-Matic Continuous Door Silo Unloader automatically moves down the silo from door to door. The gooseneck stays in perfect alignment with the chute doors and hood remains in ideal position for maximum silage carrying efficiency. There are no springs, ropes, cables or pulleys to adjust since the downward movement of the unloader operates by gravity. The electric cable is plugged into a power source at the top of the silo. The electric cable automatically uncoils as the unloader moves down the silo.

Clean Chute—This photograph shows the clean chute side of the Fickes silo. This system provides clean entry to the silo at all times. Doors are "refrigerator fit." Fickes Swingback hinged doors.

Unloading Chute—The continuous door column chute shown here with continuous door covers in closed position for loading silo.

CONTINUOUS DOORS—The Fickes Continuous Door can be placed at almost any location desired in the circumference of the silo. They require no special rods or spreaders. The small doors (8 1/2" wide x 15" long) are wedged tightly against a 1/2" steel jamb. The silo is loaded with doors in place.

Pa. Suffolk Queen started with pet lamb

By KENDACE BORRY

VILLANOVA, Pa. - About eight years ago, the parents of Susan Hastings decided to get her a pet lamb to keep in their back yard, and that lamb was the beginning of an involvement that has led her to become Pa.'s Suffolk Sheep Queen of 1977.

After Susan had the pet lamb, she decided that she wanted to show sheep, and that led her to join 4-H. Since then, she has shown in both 4-H and open shows with her various sheep and lambs.

This year her show sheep is a Suffolk ewe lamb called Vicki that has been undefeated in its class, that is kept along with three other sheep in the 3/4 acre backyard of Susan's home. "Living in Villanova," quipped Susan, "people seem a little surprised that I have sheep."

Besides the sheep, Susan also owns a duck, two dogs, 25 rabbits, a cat, and a horse. She also trains horses for other people, keeping them in a barn located near her home.

Susan became Pa. Suffolk Queen by competing at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition last year for the title. First she had an interview with the judges, who questioned her about her knowledge of sheep, then she had to be interviewed in front of a large group of sheep breeders at a dinner meeting to test her poise and self-assurance. Finally, she was crowned at the show when the judges' final decision was announced.

Her main duty as queen is to promote sheep and Suffolk sheep in particular. As the Pa. queen, she travelled to Kentucky last November to compete in the national contest. There she was named first runner up to the National Suffolk Queen.

Besides working with her animals, Susan also is the animal-care-nature-lord coordinator at a camp for the summer where 150 campers attend each day. She also works at a veterinary hospital, and is active in Christian fellowships.

This fall she is planning to attend Gettysburg College where she hopes to major in psychology and sociology with the possibility of going on to become a veterinarian. She plans to take her horse with her to college and keep it at a stables nearby.

Her father will take care of the sheep while she is at school and Susan thinks that the two of them will probably show sheep together in the future.

Susan picked Suffolk sheep because she feels that they are economical and fast growing, and to her, they look beautiful. She believes she will continue to show that breed in the future.

When it comes to showing

Proudly showing her Suffolk ewe lamb, Vicki, is Susan Hastings, Pa.'s Suffolk Sheep Queen, who shows her sheep in both 4-H and open competition.

a sheep, Susan's favorite contest is the blocking contest with the showmanship class a close second. These contacts, she believes, are a real test of the exhibitor's knowledge and skill with his or her sheep.

Susan will be at the 1977 Keystone International Livestock Exposition performing her tasks as Pa. Suffolk Queen and crowning her successor who will be chosen there.

U. of D. grad honored

NEWARK, Del. - Martin N. Culik, a senior in the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware, is one of two students from the Northeast region of the U.S. to be awarded $500 scholarships by the Soil Conservation Society of America. Announcement of the award was made earlier this month in Richmond, Va., during the Society's 32nd annual meeting.

Culik is an agronomy major and is considering a career in crop physiology. He plans to pursue graduate work upon completion of his B.S. degree. He is already engaged in research studies relating to corn production. Specifically, he is studying the effects of defoliation on corn yields. He will describe his findings in a special senior thesis he's writing in order to graduate with a degree with distinction.

Order 2 dairy referendum coming up

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Dairy farmers will be voting in an upcoming referendum on the amended New York-New Jersey (Federal Order No. 2) milk marketing orders. The mail referendum, ends at midnight, Sunday, September 11.

Dr. N.K. Garber, assistant market administrator, who was named as referendum agent, said all dairy farmers who delivered milk to pool plants and bulk tank units in March 1977 will be eligible to vote either collectively through their cooperative or, in the case of non-members, by individual ballots. He stated that failure to approve the amended order would result in termination of the New York-New Jersey milk marketing order. A two-thirds yes vote of those casting ballots is necessary for approval. Garber added that this referendum is in no way connected with the New York State Promotion Order referendum scheduled for later this year.

The proposed amended order changes the Class I price differential, applied to the Class I and uniform prices, is changed from the current 1.2 cents per hundredweight for each 10 mile zone, to 1.8 cents for each 10 mile zone closer and 1.5 cents for each 10 mile zone further than the 201-210 mile zone. Handlers of farm bulk tank milk would receive a pool transportation credit of 15 cents per hundredweight instead of the current 10-cent credit for bulk tank milk allocated to Class II uses. The maximum negotiated hauling deduction would increase to 15 cents from 10 cents per hundredweight. The direct delivery differential would be 15 cents per hundredweight instead of 5 cents. Handlers with obligations overdue to the market administrator will be assessed a late-payment charge of one per cent per month on the amount overdue. Milk that a handler dumps, disposes of for animal feed, or loses due to extraordinary circumstances beyond his control, will be classified as Class II milk instead of plant shrinkage. Bulk milk received from a plant under another order (other than that received on an agreed Class II basis) will be classified according to the greater Class II percentage of either all of the handler's pool plants or the entire market, instead of the current classification according to the receiving plant's uses. Order language clarifications are also included.

Final decisions and ballots will be mailed soon. Dr. Garber urged all eligible producers who are not members of a cooperative association voting collectively and who do not receive referendum material to write to the Referendum Agent at 208 East 43rd Street, New York, New York 10017.

Corn zoo slated for Hess farm

DALLASTOWN, Pa. - Ever hear of a corn zoo?

The Charles Hess farm, Dallastown R1, boasts one this year, put out as part of an educational corn test plot by the Dekalb Seed Company. Sporting varieties of corn plants from different parts of the world, the "zoo" plot is just one feature of several interesting demonstrations on corn growing.

"Various cultural practices are shown in one portion of the 22-acre test plot," says Ed Wilson, Dekalb representative from Leola. "Plants are marked according to planting dates, depths, fertilizer rates, and cultivation systems."

Hess, a top York County corn grower and well-known plowing champion, cooperated in putting out the demonstration acreage with Dekalb regional agronomist, Ken Miller of Easton, Md.

One relatively new tillage system used by Hess incorporates the use of the Mellinger sub-soil planter. A once-over-the-field piece of equipment, the subsoiler chisels into the ground about 18 inches, follows up with a double colter and field cultivator and then plants the seed. Some fields, however, were disked once ahead of the planter.

Another portion of the test plot depicts the development of inbred corn seed and hybrid types, while a third section offers visitors a chance to view available numbered varieties under this year's growing conditions.

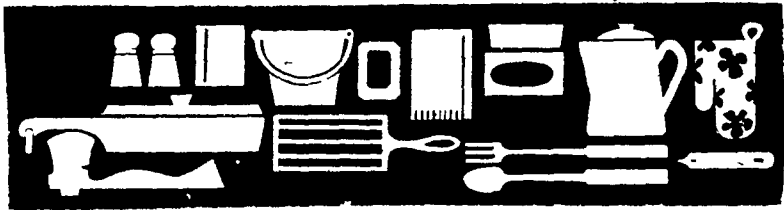

Dealers from across Pennsylvania visited the plot on August 19, in preparation for a field day planned for the public, scheduled for September 6 and 7. Interested farmers are invited to the Hess farm during the upcoming field demonstrations. A barbecued chicken luncheon will be served.

To get to the Hess farm, take Interstate 83 to the Queen Street exit and follow Route 74 south in the direction of Red Lion. Turn right on Ironstone Hill Road and turn left on Hess Farm drive. The farm is situated four or five miles in on that road.

Schicks win barrow show

HATFIELD - Otto and Herbert Schick of Kutztown R2 had the champion and reserve champion hogs, respectively, at the Eastern Pennsylvania Pork Producers Fall Barrow Show, held here last week. The contest had nine exhibitors and 36 hogs entered, with five counties represented.

Otto Schick's champion weighed in at 215 pounds, live weight, and was judged as best of the show by judges Jerry Clemens of Hatfield and John Ziegler of Penn State University. The crossbred animal had one inch of backfat, 32 inches long, and a loin eye which measured 5.75 inches. Its ham-loin percentage was measured at 32.2 per cent.

Herb Schick, showing the reserve champ, another crossbred, had his animal weigh in at 205 pounds. Performance statistics include eight-tenths of an inch of backfat, 30.7 inches long, 7.35 inch loin eye, and 32 per cent ham-loin.

Carl Cooper of Lenhartsville had the third-place hog.

In addition to the top two places, the father and son team from Berks County garnered fourth, fifth, and sixth places, with son Otto taking fourth, and father Herbert the remaining two. John Turner of Kempton was seventh.

Ladies Have You Heard?

INSURE LONG LIFE OF SHEETS AND PILLOWCASES

In recent years sheets and pillowcases have become an integral part of bedroom decor. That's why it's more important than ever to keep them bright and new looking by exercising care in making beds, repairing rips and tears promptly and laundering frequently.

Always loosen sheets all around from under mattress before taking them from the beds. Never yank them off or pull sheets from other bedding. A perfectly serviceable sheet may tear with such treatment.

Protect sheets from abrasion against a mattress, and the mattress itself, with a mattress pad which covers the entire top surface of the mattress.

Mend any rips or tears as soon as sheets are removed from beds and before laundering. It's also important to change bed linens often since body oils can build up and become more difficult to remove in laundering.

Encourage the family to shower or bathe before bed and remove makeup before retiring. Such measures help prevent staining that may require special methods of removal.

Any stains or spots that do occur should be removed before laundering. Treat according to the type of stain.

Sort sheets with pieces of similar weight, amount of soil and fabric content. Wash whites with whites and colors with colors. Load the washer loosely and mix sheets with smaller items for best cleaning and good circulation.

A sufficient amount of detergent and water that is hot enough are key ingredients in removing body oils. They also help to eliminate yellowing caused by an accumulation of oils over a period of time. Bear in mind that graying and yellowing are most often caused by soil and oils embedded in fibers because not enough washing product was used.

Most of today's bed linens are permanent press, generally a blend of polyester and cotton. They can be machine dried with wrinkle-free results if instructions for drying time are followed and sheets are removed from the dryer as soon as the cycle ends.

Stack freshly laundered sheets on the bottom of the pile in the linen closet. This way they can be rotated in use to insure even wear.

Then a yogurt culture is added and the mix is incubated at 115 degrees F for about four hours. Pureed fruit and flavoring are added when the mix is packaged for soft serve use of frozen for hard yogurt.

FACTS ABOUT FROZEN YOGURT

Frozen yogurt has taken its place with ice cream as a favorite American food. Frozen yogurt is similar to ice milk and contains about two per cent milkfat and 30 per cent total solids.

It is made by combining milk (skim powder or condensed), sugar and corn syrup, stabilizer-emulsifier and citric acid. This mixture is pasteurized and homogenized.

Frozen yogurt costs more than twice as much per serving as the cultured product sold in dairy cases. Frozen yogurt contains about twice as many carbohydrates as yogurt and has 50 per cent or more additional calories per serving.

Frozen yogurt is similar to ice milk and yogurt. Both its taste and composition resemble a combination of these products.

Mildred Seeds with the grand champion Jersey.

The Urmey brothers with their string of winning Brown Swiss.

Allentown posts colored dairy breed results

ALLENTOWN—In colored breed dairy shows at the Allentown Fair last week, Nedra Yoder of Shoemakersville had the grand champion Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn; Mildred Seeds of Downingtown exhibited the grand champion Jersey; Daryl Urmey of Coopersburg showed the top Brown Swiss; and Kennard E. Henley II paraded the champion Ayrshire.

Details follow:

GUERNSEYS

The Guernsey contest, although Nedra Yoder won the biggest prize, was dominated by Russell Miller of Tamaqua, who won every class except for junior yearling, and two-year olds. Miss Yoder's 2-year old was the grand champion; while Joni Frankenfield had the top junior yearling. Miller had the reserve champions in both senior and grand contests.

JERSEYS

The Jersey show boiled down to a two-family event in most classes, with Mildred Seeds and the Robert Dreisbach family of Hamburg contesting for all the top honors. The only one which didn't go to one or the other was the ribbon for best produce of dam, which was won by Bruce Heller of Downingtown. The Dreisbachs had two first-place bulls, but missed having the grand champion bull, which belonged to Ms. Seeds. The Downingtown also won every other championship distinction, including reserve.

BROWNSWISS

Highlighting the Brown Swiss show was Daryl Urmey, who had the reserve champion bull, and both senior and grand champions. He lost several first-places in class competition, however, with those being: Junior Calf - Gregg German, Pottstown; Senior Calf - Kitty Kopistecki, Royersford; Senior Yearling - Chester Raught, Birchrunville; Three Year Olds - Bryan Urmey; Four Year Olds - Bryan Urmey; and Grand Champion Bull - Russell Miller, Tamaqua.

Miss Kopistecki had the junior champion of the show, while Chester Raught took to reserve honor.

AYRSHIRES

Taking most of the top spots in this show was Kennard E. Henley II of Cochranville. He had the two top bulls in the event, as well as junior and senior champions. In addition, he placed first in a number of classes.

Sharon Lynn Nolan, Cochranville, also had several first places, including junior calf, senior calf, junior yearling, aged cow and senior get. She also had the reserve junior champion. The reserve senior champion was owned by William Henley of Cochranville.

MILKING SHORTHORNS

The Yoders of Shoemakersville once again took all the ribbons that were available to be won in this event. Nedra had both junior and senior female champions. The top bull belonged to Sam Yoder, while Nedra checked in with hers as runnerup. Another brother, Frederick, had the reserve senior and grand champion, while sister Wendy walked away with the reserve junior champion rosette.

Seeds mislabeled, sent to Pa.

NEW YORK, N.Y.—The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced settlement of a civil suit against an Oregon seed company for alleged violations of a federal truth-in-labeling law intended to protect farmers and consumers who purchase seed.

The suit, charged Normarc, Inc., Tangent, Ore., with violating the Federal Seed Act on 18 shipments of seed into Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, and Texas. State departments of agriculture cooperated with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) in carrying out the investigations. AMS administers the Federal Seed Act.

AMS seed official Clyde R. Edwards said the company has consented to pay USDA $4,200 in settlement. The alleged violations differed in various shipments and included false labeling of the percentage of pure seeds, hard seeds, germination dates, identification of seed by origin, kind, variety and lot number, according to Edwards. In one instance, seed was represented falsely as a "lot" when it was not of uniform quality.

Other alleged violations included failure to state the kind of seed present and percentages of seed that germinated in tests; state the correct amount and kinds of noxious-weed seeds; test seed for germination within the prescribed 5-month period prior to interstate shipment; and keep required records.

Two Deutz drivers win national tractor pull

By DIETER KRIEG

NEW HOLLAND - Two Lancaster County brothers, both of whom drive "brother" tractors, brought national recognition to their driving talents recently when they piloted their machines to first-place victories in a Grand National Pull held at Bowling Green, Ohio. The two victorious drivers are Tony and Tim Stauffer. Together, with brothers Mark and Harold, they represent a team which has chalked up 33 first-place victories during the first eight months of 1977. Their wins have come from local pulls at The Buck to events in New York, Delaware, New Jersey, Canada, and the Midwest.

The Stauffers drive air-cooled Deutz Diesel machines which the family dealership imports from Germany. The family has held a franchise for Deutz tractors and engines since 1969 and operates out of a store located at 312 W. Main Street, New Holland.

The showroom, which was formerly used to display new Chevrolets, is ringed with trophies the Stauffers — including father Amos Stauffer — have won during the past few years. Their first venture into the sport took place five years ago with a 95 horsepower Deutz 9006 they nicknamed "Sneeki Pete." That same tractor, with mechanical improvements to boost its horsepower to "800 plus," took first place at the Grand National Pull in Ohio last week. Close to 250 tractors were entered in that championship pull.

"Sneeki Pete's" first place victory came in the 7000 pound super stock class, in which 28 tractors were entered. Tony recalls that out of those 28 tractors, three went the full distance of 300 feet in the first heat. Going through the finish line along with Stauffer were a John Deere 4230 and an Allis-Chalmers D-21. In the subsequent pull-off, the Deutz 9006 was good for a distance of 253 feet, the John Deere spun to 246 feet, and the big orange A-C finished third.

Tim Stauffer, driving an 8006 Deutz, was Number 34 in a lineup of 38 for the 5000 pound super stock class. That's too long of a line-up, the young tractor puller commented during a recent interview, explaining that the track does not stay consistent during that lengthy of a contest. Despite this situation, Tim's 8006, nicknamed "Under Dog," was among the top ten. All of them pulled through the end zone and qualified for another round of contests. The Deutz finished first, followed by an Allis Chalmers 180, and a Farmall 560 driven by another Pennsylvanian, Jim Ringler of Somerset County. Dale Smoker of Cochranville was sixth in that class.

The Bowling Green contest is an open event offering a total purse of $46,000, which makes it one of the richest in the country. The most lucrative of them all is the Indianapolis Invitational, which offers a $70,000 purse. Held in conjunction with the Indiana State Fair, Tim Stauffer was invited to participate and finished in third place. He competed with 25 others in the 5000 pound super stock class.

According to Tony Stauffer, there are about a dozen grand national pulls held around the country. The one he and his brother participated in last week was the last one for this season, and also the largest, with an estimated 40,000 or more fans looking on. "It's the biggest outdoor event of its kind," says the modest mechanic. Earlier this year he and Tim had traveled to state, regional and other national pulls. On most weekends they pull at The Buck, south of Lancaster. They do it for sport and money, although there often isn't much of the latter, considering expenses.

The Deutz firm does not provide the Stauffers with either technical or financial assistance, although, in Tony's words "Deutz enjoys the publicity we give them." The tractors used in competition by the family (they have three—"Sneeki Pete," "Under Dog," and "Fido") are provided by Stauffer Diesel, Inc. Those involved in the actual pulling and maintenance jobs provide their own time as it is available. Money for improvements and modification is earned on the track, rather than provided outright through the Stauffer firm. Stauffer Diesel, Inc. gets 90 per cent of all the purse money won by the tractors, as a return on its investment. The other 10 per cent goes to the team and those earnings are used to keep the tractors competitive.

It takes a lot more to keep a tractor competitive nowadays than it did five years ago, Tony recollected. When "Sneeki Pete" was first put on the track, for example, the engine churned up 200 horsepower. That was good enough to win during the early 1970's, but such low powered machines would be out of the running today. The 1977 "Sneeki Pete" has been modified to put out over 800 horsepower.

The two Deutz models used by the Stauffers both have 345 cubic inch air-cooled Diesel engines as standard equipment. "Under Dog" is still on the track with the original block, but "Sneeki Pete's" powerplant has been bored out to 360 cubes. Modifications for maximizing the engine's power include decompression of the engine in order to get more air and fuel into the combustion chambers, larger fuel pumps to deliver the extra fuel, dual turbochargers, pre-coolers in the air delivery system, You'll put less straw through the combine with Coker 68-15. It normally ranges from 38 to 42 inches high. Resistance to lodging has also been very good. Coker 68-15 will stand up under more units of N than most wheats we've tested.

My Thoughts And welcome to them

By JOANNE SPAHR
Assistant Editor

"Ah yoo-all interested in balahs, honey?" I heard a southern voice drawl out beside me while I was waiting for the round baler demonstration to begin at Ag Progress Days this week.

I looked over to find a blonde, middle-aged machinery salesman at my elbow grinning at me with a "yoo city slicka, yoo" look on his face.

From the set-up, I was tempted to say, "Somebody told me these are the lawn mowers of the future, is that true?", but instead, I just said, "Yes," and asked him about the particularly outstanding features of his company's baler.

As I, along with the thousands of other spectators, watched the round balers in action and ran over every time a finished product was dropped I couldn't help but think how these new-fangled machines would have ruined my Summer fun when I was a child.

Hay making time was my favorite time of year. Without even being told to do so, I always planned to help my dad and brother with this chore. As soon as I heard the old cantankerous baler getting fired up, I'd run to the wagon and hop on, ready and eager to bump along out to the field. Then, while Dad was attentively watching the baler to make sure that it didn't choke up, I'd position myself right behind him with legs spread as wide as I could to brace myself for work.

After a few bangs and clangs, and a loud "whoomp", the first good bale would pop out, and I'd brace myself to take the big package from Dad to relay it back to my brother, whose job was to position the whole load. However, Dad was rarely expecting my help right to his rear, and nearly fell over me every time he turned around to hand the bale off to Jim.

More often than not, the biggest command from the start of haymaking was "Jo, get out of my road," or something similar. Usually, this continued to be the most repeated phrase on the wagon, as I found myself hopping from bale to bale trying to keep out of my brother's line of fire while positioning the bales. (He was really aiming to squash me, and I knew it).

The only time I ever found peace and quiet was when the last layer was heaved up in the back of the load, and I could climb up into my crow's nest and watch the world go by. That crow's nest watching has to be the best job on the farm.

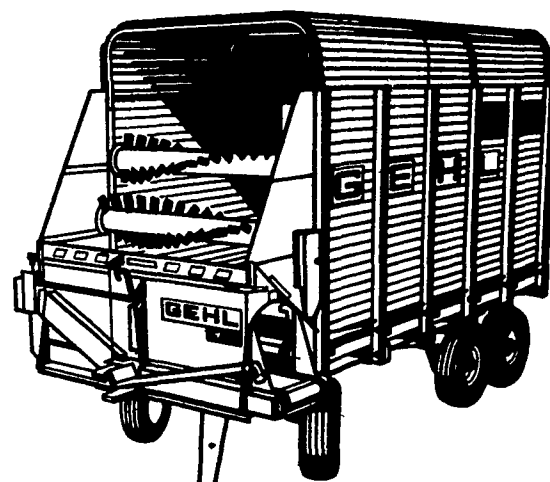

HART - THE NEW WHEAT

Hart Wheat is a new variety, a high yielder, and a medium early type. It has very good straw, medium short in length and is a bearded wheat. The 1977 crop had a high test weight per bushel and averaged a 15 per cent increase in yield over Redcoat Wheat. Hart can be combined a few days ahead of Redcoat and is moderately resistant to Hessian Fly. Hart responds to fertilizer and management much like Redcoat. It is a wheat that you should check out.

Girls are winners at dairy shows

KUTZTOWN - Girls are coming up with the winning dairy animals at many of the fairs in the area. At the recent Kutztown Fair, for example, several girls walked off with top honors. Among them were Denise Andrien of Coatesville and Nedra Yoder of Shoemakersville, who showed champion Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn animals, respectively. Miss Andrien exhibited her 2-year old as grand champion, and a senior yearling of hers stood as reserve champ. She also had the reserve junior champion, relinquishing the top spot to Duane Petersheim of Oley.

The Milking Shorthorn contest was basically a one family show, with few exceptions. Douglas Marsh of Sadsburyville exhibited several second place animals, while all the rest were shown by the Yoder family, owners of Pinesedge Farm. Frederick Yoder had the two top junior entries and Nedra had the two top cows. Her grand champion was a 5-year old daughter of Pinesedge Apollo. The reserve champ was sired by Penisedge Geronimo.

Following are detailed placings of both shows.

WOOD AND COAL HEATER

The R-65 is everything our other heaters are, except smaller. It still comes with nine full inches of firebrick to protect the jacket and hold the heat, and it's every bit as airtight and controlled. The only difference is that it's been designed to accommodate smaller areas either as an emergency back-up heating system, or as a supplement to an existing heating system.

Like all Shenandoah Heaters, the R-65 will burn with either a very hot flame or a long-burning (12 hours) simmer flame to get you through the day or night without reloading. Its size makes it ideal for heating garages, workshops, utility rooms, cabins, small homes or cottages. Its heavy gauge steel top makes it ideal for cooking.

Letter response tremendous against 'Dietary Goals'

By JOANNE SPAHR
LANCASTER, Pa. - According to Hendrick Wentink, chairman of the National Commission on Egg Nutrition, a "tremendous" amount of correspondence has been making its way into the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs concerning its booklet "Dietary Goals for the United States." The letters referred to by Wentink take exception to the "Dietary Goals" as proposed. Those goals call for a reduction of cholesterol consumption to 300 milligrams per day. This recommendation would virtually ruin the egg industry in the United States if legislation were tied to it, since one egg, alone, contains over 250 milligrams of cholesterol.

Individuals from all sectors of the American population have been taking exception to this booklet, including the egg industry, beef producers, doctors, researchers, and government leaders.

One noted individual who has spoken out is Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Kent D. Shelhamer. Citing contradictory evidence on the relationship between a high cholesterol diet and cholesterol in the bloodstream and nothing the negative effect on the "Dietary Goals" would have on Pennsylvania's agriculture, Shelhamer requested that the release of the committee's information be held until more conclusive evidence is available.

Wentink also noted that Dr. George Mann of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., a well-known lipid researcher, took exception to the recommendations in the booklet. Other individuals such as the secretaries of agriculture from Illinois, and Kansas have also written letters.

Hendrick Wentink

"And, let it be known," states Wentink, "that all support in this issue is very important. Any contribution that the layman makes has its effect."

Although the record for comments officially closed on August 26, Wentink has hopes that the period will be extended for a short while. This fact, however, has not been confirmed as of this writing.

The next meeting of the Grange will be September 21 with the 4-H in charge of the program. Pomona will meet September 3, at Fleetwood.

Plans listed

VIRGINVILLE
Virginville Grange recently outlined the following upcoming plans.

There will be a picnic for the youth of the Virginville Grange on September 2, at the home of Dawn Miller. The judging of the arts, crafts, and photographs for the Juniors in the group will be held August 31 at the Kutztown Grange. All grange members are invited to the Labor Day outing at the Shoemakersville Park, and are asked to bring a dessert along.

WHAT'S NEW

LIQUID HOG FEEDER

Big Dutchman has introduced a new liquid hog feeding system called the "Hydrop" to the American pork industry. The machine automatically measures, mixes and delivers pre-selected ratios of feed and water through a series of electro-pneumatic valves. The Hydrop was developed by Big Dutchman International in the Netherlands, and is in wide use in western European countries, including Germany, France, Sweden, Denmark, England and the Netherlands.

The Hydrop consists of an electronically controlled measuring and mixing unit coupled with a pump that is operated by a time clock and automatic switching device. The unit, when equipped with one electronic control panel, can operate 30 of the automatic valves. However, each unit may be tied in to as many as three control panels, so that one mixer and pump can service 90 valves, giving the system the capacity to automatically feed up to 2,160 hogs in a period of about 30 minutes.

The valves may be set individually to deliver a predetermined amount of feed to each pen. Pens are fed in rotation, automatically, once the time clock has set the machinery in motion. Because of the flexibility of the piping system, the Hydrop can be adapted to almost any kind of existing housing or penning arrangements, including multi-level houses or a series of two or three separate buildings.

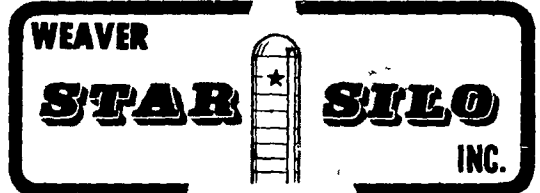

The pipeline is totally enclosed and is under pressure at all times, preventing the entry of outside air into the system.

I had my first inkling that it was not going to be my day when in the early morning, on the way to the horse show, the horse trailer developed a flat tire for lack of nothing better to do. If I would have been smart, I would have gone home to bed right then.

USDA office

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has appointed Barbara Lindemann Schlei, a Los Angeles attorney, administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

As AMS administrator, Ms. Schlei will direct a variety of marketing and regulatory functions, including marketing order programs, a nationwide market news reporting system, research and promotion programs, and activities authorized under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act, the U.S. Warehouse Act, and the Federal Seed Act.

Unfortunately, I decided that I had filled my quota of bad luck for the day so I pressed on to the horse show to enjoy myself. I arrived a little late but soon settled down to the classes of the day, talking to friends I hadn't seen since the last show, and watching the horses.

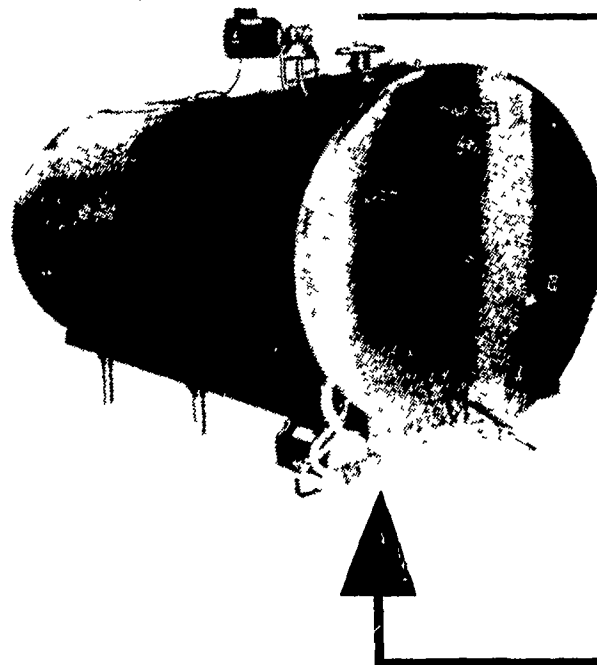

It was along about midafternoon when a little friend of mine, a junior member of my 4-H club came up to me and informed me that she was having a bit of trouble getting her bridle on her horse. Being that the girl is only about peanut sized, and her horse was definitely giant material, I could see where she might have a problem.

So, the two of us ambled over to where the faithful beast was tied, and while she hunted out her bridle, I slipped the halter off the horse's head and put the lead rope around its neck, so that I had something to hang onto the horse with.

4-H'er has champion of Black and White show

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

YORK, Pa. - Presentation of the grand champion ribbons and trophy during the August 17 York County Black and White Show at the York Fairgrounds came almost as an "instant replay" of the county 4-H roundup, held the day before.

A strong two-year-old, owned by Patty Greek, Delta R2, caught the judge's eye and topped the final lineup of older, more mature milking animals.

The champion, "Kingway K. V. Luscious Laurie," also took first place and second best udder in her class. Sixteen-year-old Patty has shown the animal in numerous 4-H and open class competitions, but until the August 16 dairy roundup, she had never before won a class with the animal.

Reserve senior and grand champion awards went to Jed Beshore, Beshore Farms, New Cumberland R1, with a home-bred daughter of "Winterthur Ivanhoe Kid Samson." The aged cow was selected best udder and winner of her individual class as well.

A tall smooth senior calf, owned by James Knight, Airville R2, took top winnings over the heifer classes when she was named the junior champion. The home-bred Woodbine Farms calf was sired by the popular "Elevation" bull.

Tom and June Boyer, Sunnybend Farm, York, exhibited the tall senior yearling by "Chambric Happy Brett" that was selected the reserve junior champion. Also a home-bred

Babcock bird reintroduced

LITITZ - Babcock Poultry Farms, Inc., headquartered in Ithaca, N.Y., and with branch facilities in various parts of the country, is reintroducing the B300V, a chicken which made its mark several years ago and is now coming back as a genetically improved strain.

According to spokesmen at Babcock, the new bird has been in commercial production for about a year now and "is doing very well in the field, as it had done in prior experimental work." Babcock now feels it is ready to market the improved strain in Lancaster County and surrounding areas and has a program planned for Sept. 15 to introduce the B300V to producers in the area.

A slide and lecture program on the new bird, as well as background information on the Babcock program, will be presented Sept. 15 at The Historic Strasburg Restaurant, Strasburg, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The B300V is genetically improved over what it was in its earlier version, says Babcock spokesman David Delaney, whose office is outside of Lititz. Two weeks ago a group of poultry specialists and representatives of allied industries from this area were introduced to the new B300V while touring Babcock's facilities in New York State. While on the tour, the group of 31 visited the egg plant, hatchery, research and production facilities and participated in seminars conducted by Babcock.

Monroe Babcock, chairman of the board for the Ithaca-based firm, and Bruce Babcock, president and chief executive officer, spoke to the group about the company and its directions. Other speakers included Dr. Robert Ball, whose topic centered on the MS and MG precautionary measures taken by the breeder; Dr. Andy Wyatt, on Babcock genetic research and development; Al Hibbard, on "Lighting and Feeding Babcock Layers for Top Profit;" and Bob Kilgore on "The Babcock Story."

25 per cent increase expected for farmers' propane

OAK BROOK, Ill. - The demand for propane as a farm energy source will increase by 25 per cent between now and 1980, according to a report presented by the LP-Gas Industry Advisory Committee to the Federal Energy Administration. By 1980 farmers will require a forecasted 1.15 billion gallons of propane a year compared with 919 million gallons annually at present.

In the past six years the demand for propane by farmers had increased by 205 per cent from 260 million gallons in 1971 to 797 million gallons in 1976.

Recent Bureau of Mines figures estimate that in 1975 52 per cent of the nation's farmers used the fuel for such things as crop drying, poultry brooding, hog confinement, tobacco curing and as fuel for irrigation pump engines.

The committee forecasts that there will be a 29 per cent increase in total propane supplies from 12.9 billion gallons at present to 16.7 billion gallons by 1980. A dramatic shift, though, is likely in supply sources to more reliance on overseas imports as imports from Canada will remain static and domestic production may decline. Total imports of propane are expected to rise from 7.5 per cent of total supply in 1976 to almost 30 per cent in 1980.

The study predicts that, with expansions in port storage facilities on the East coast, both the number of vessels and the capacities at terminals will be adequate to handle the increased overseas imports. The report also foresees a need to expand the industry's transportation capabilities from the terminals to the main distribution points around the country.

Tour set

STEWARTSTOWN - The Kennard-Dale Young Farmers Association will hold a summer tour of several demonstration plots on August 30, 1977 at 7 p.m.

The tour will start several miles south of Route 24 on Maryland Line Road where the group will view soybean herbicide plots planted after barley using minimum tillage systems. Signs will be posted to show the way to the plots from Route 24. The group will then stop at several corn variety plots then end the tour at the Chemagro Demonstration Farm at Stewartstown, R3. At the last stop the group will observe soybeans planted no-til, drilled, and insecticide-herbicide interaction plots. They will also see corn insecticide plots and alfalfa herbicide, insecticide, and no-til plots.

Any interested farmer is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the tour.

FROM ACORN GREW THE TOUGH LINK GUTTER CLEANER

The closed end link on Acorns Super 600 Gutter Cleaner grew from a need for a solid chain link that won't unhook or stretch. Unlike hook and eye links, there's no need to constantly remove individual links. The Super 600 link won't unhook and end up in your spreader, manure transfer pump or manure holding area.

Other Super 600 features

Exclusive 10-Gauge Galvanized Elevator
Elevator sections reinforce beam transmission support insert tip-up assembly are all made of thick 10-gauge galvanized steel. Acorn's seamless elevator sections prevent seam leaks and corrosion.

Super 600 Transmission

The heart of the Super 600 Gutter Cleaner. Features welded main and idler shaft supports for permanent sprocket alignment. Double B groove pulley. Semi-box transmission frame with center steel plate reinforcement for support where it counts.

No 80/60 hardened roller chain drive, none tougher!

Protection From Rust Freeze-Up
Rust freeze-up between the drive hub and sprocket is no problem with the Super 600. Acorn engineers put a gap between the hub and sprocket to prevent rusting together.

The heat-treated sprocket is also reversible for longer life.

Optional Stacker

Elevator comes in 30, 40, 50 foot lengths, pivots 45° to serve holding areas up to 500 tons. Tripod supports eliminates need for concrete walls.

Feeder pig demonstration part of swine field day

By JOANNE SPAHR
ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa. - The piggery perched atop a hill on the grounds of the expansive Masonic Homes, here, was the setting for the 1977 Lancaster County Swine Producers Summer field day held on August 20. The major events for the day consisted of a judging contest in the morning followed by a demonstration of grading feeder pigs in the afternoon.

John Zimmerman, chief of the Livestock Division of the Bureau of Markets and also a state grader, explained the basics of what he and other state graders look for in a feeder pig. "The main objective in feeder pig grading," stated Zimmerman, "is packaging a salable product." According to Zimmerman, a buyer wants a group of pigs that are going to "do well" together, or finish out relatively closely, so the graders go through the lots of pigs, using the USDA standards as a base and taking other factors into consideration. In this manner, they come up with grades one through three, utility, and "as is."

John Zimmerman

"The first thing we look for in a feeder pig is thriftiness," said Zimmerman. We also look for length in relationship to muscling."

A feeder pig that grades number one must have muscling throughout his body, must be long in relation to the muscling through him, and when viewed from the back should be wide in the shoulders, trimmer through the flank, and wider and deeper in the ham area.

"We like to see them walk," commented Zimmerman. "When they're stretched out, we like to see that muscle bulging. If you watch from the side, along the flank and back into the ham, you can tell if it flexes - that's better muscling."

In comparison to grade one, grade number two's carry only a fair degree of muscling and are often shorter than the higher grades.

Grade number three, on the other hand, has a wide range of characteristics represented in it.

"The animals can be short, or thin-muscled, or they can be too short for their muscling," described the state grader.

The utility grades are the unthrifty animals that lack muscling.

"These animals will eventually grade out at the upper grades," noted Zimmerman, "But, they will be slower at it."

An "as is" feeder pig is one that is hurt, ruptured, or shows prominent disease symptoms. These animals are sold ungraded.

According to Zimmerman, the lower grades have a much wider variance in size than the upper grade.

"We take a closer look at size and quality with the upper grades," Zimmerman explained. "The better the quality of animal, the more uniform, the easier it is for us to grade them."

Although the USDA grading standards are the basis for the grading, Zimmerman made it clear that many variants come into the picture.

"For instance," he explained to the group, "If an animal is showing possible signs of atrophic rhinitis, but the signs are not prominent, we'll downgrade the animal by a half a grade. Another reason for downgrading is late cutting," he explained.

Following his demonstration, Zimmerman entertained questions from the swine producers.

The results of the morning's judging were also tallied in the afternoon.

In the youth division, Chris Chapman, the daughter of John Chapman, Dutch Valley Farms, Manheim, took first place. Another young lady, Michele Dean, Strasburg, took second, and Julie Groff, Lampeter, took third.

In the women's division, Sue Groff, Lampeter, won first place ranking, and Ruth Dean, Strasburg, took the second place berth.

Mark Nestleroth, Dutch Valley Farms, Manheim, was the top judge in the men's division. A three-way tie for second place was held by Glenn Shultz, Elizabethtown; John Henkel, Strasburg; and John Chapman, Manheim. Rich Meyers, Strasburg, took third. Judge for the event was Ken Emory, Penn Packing.

The Masonic Homes operation is farrow to finish with the majority of the animals slaughtered for the use in the institution. All totaled there are 450 head of swine - Hampshires and Yorkshires, mostly - with 50 sows and five boars.

Dairy roundup winners picked

SOUTH MOUNTAIN - The Adams County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held August 10 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds. Paul Anderson, dairy specialist at Penn State, was judge of the event.

In the Holstein division, the Junior Champion was shown by Christine Gitt, who showed a junior yearling. The Reserve Junior Champion was shown by Beth Waybright, who exhibited a senior calf.

Christine Gitt also showed the Senior and Grand Champion Holstein, which competed in the five year and older class. The Reserve Senior and Reserve Champion was shown by Robin Ridinger, who showed in the three and four year old class.

The Guernsey Junior Champion was exhibited by Harlan Myers, whose entry was shown in the intermediate class. The Reserve Junior Champion was a junior yearling shown by Jane Myers.

Harlan Myers entry in the three and four year old class won the Senior and Grand Champion award while Barbara Murrow, who also exhibited a three and four year old class entry, was named Reserve Champion.

Jersey Senior and Grand Champion was Dawn Ridinger, who exhibited a two year old.

Master showman of the day was Daniel Waybright. Master fitter and reserve master showman was Carol Zepp. Reserve master fitter was Monica Miller.

Two Deutz drivers

and special clutches for fast starts.

Tractor pulling involves much more than just the engine, however. Everything has to be tuned for top performance. The Stauffers do their own mechanical work, including reconfigurations of the gears. Stock Deutz tractors come off the assembly line with 12 forward speeds, but Tim's 8006 goes on the track with just four. The Stauffers found the other eight to be unnecessary and eliminated them in order to trim as much weight from it as possible and thus have it qualify for a lighter weight class. They admit it's pretty tough to get the 8006 to qualify for the 5000 pound class, whereas that problem does not exist with "Sneeki Pete" for the 7000 pound event. Each tractor also pulls in the next highest weight class by putting back on some of the ballast that's shed in lower weight contests.

Aside from all the mechanical considerations, there's the matter of being able to control all that power on a dirt track. It's tough to do, especially in the 500 pound classes, says Tony, who's at home in the 7000 and 9000 pound events. "It takes a tremendous amount of concentration to stay in control of all that power in relationship to so little weight," says Tony. The 8006, for example, is normally putting out 85 horsepower, but the Stauffer version screams alive with about 650. "You have to match the power of the engine with the transmission and tires," the champion puller explains. To do that involves not just mechanical innovations, but refined operating techniques.

The Stauffers have rearranged their gears to match all that engine power with gear ratios which are built to take power. "Road gears" are not strong enough to take such loads. In short, the name of the game is to get lots of power and lots of speed into one drive train. Power is transferred to the ground with tires measuring 30.5 inches wide.

The driver develops a feel for his rig which guides him along the 300 foot dirt track.

As though by instinct, the accomplished tractor puller stays in command of his tractor's performance — both mechanically and in relation to the track. He must be aware of tire speed in relation to ground speed — making sure he doesn't just end up spinning and digging holes in the track, and be careful to stay within the prescribed path. Steering these powerful machines is not like driving the family car. Rather, it can be like trying to keep a wild bronco in line at a rodeo. The drivers therefore often have to resort to steering with their brakes if they want to keep their tractors from swaying from side to side. It's not unusual to see a tractor come hurling down the track with the front end bouncing up and down and from side to side in a violent manner until it eventually jumps the sideline and is disqualified.

"You can win or lose the pull just in the way you start the sled off," explained Tim, who has learned from experience that the heavier classes are easier to keep control of. Another important factor is a good track, the young man revealed. An inconsistent track can cause a driver to lose control of his machine. In reference to track conditions, he noted that pullers prefer to be through a class in about 30 minutes or so, thus minimizing any changing effects time would have on the track. On a hot afternoon, for example, the track will dry out rapidly and significantly change pulling conditions. Contributing to the rapid drying process is the tearing and loosening action of the tires.

Tractor pullers can't brag about fuel economy, since any reference to fuel consumption is phrased in feet per gallon rather than miles per gallon. The Stauffers' Deutz tractors do better than most, however, both in the field as well as on the track. Tim uses slightly more than a gallon per 300 foot run. Tony uses about 1½ gallons per 300 foot run in his 9007. In comparison, some pullers are known to use several gallons per run.

Aside from the thrills they get out of pulling, the Stauffers cite a better understanding of their engines as one of the benefits they get out of pulling. "A single turbocharger just isn't competitive anymore," commented Tony, perhaps foreseeing the day when dual blowers will be found on stock farm tractors. But beyond that, the Stauffers say "we learn how much abuse an engine takes; pulling very definitely gives us a much more intimate knowledge of the engine, and it allows us to analyze problems better."

Loan maturity dates extended

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that all 1976-crop wheat and feed grain loans which mature prior to Oct. 31, 1977 may be extended to Oct. 31, 1977 at the option of the producer. By extending loan maturity dates, USDA will give farmers the option of continuing to hold their grain in hopes of higher market prices. There will be no allowance for storage during the extension period.

Under commodity loan programs, producers borrow money from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), offering their crops as collateral. The loans are "nonrecourse" which means that when the loan matures, producers either repay the loan plus interest in cash or forfeit the commodity to CCC. CCC loans usually mature after one year and are therefore known as "anniversary" loans.

In practice, the loan rate becomes the minimum price that a producer will receive for the crop, since a producer generally will not redeem grain under loan if the market price is below the loan rate.

Loans give producers the opportunity to obtain cash while holding their crops for later sale and to benefit from possible price increases that often come later in the season after harvest. By holding a crop, market gluts, extreme price swings and transportation bottlenecks are minimized to a great extent by spreading commodity marketings over the entire year.

CCC loans are administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). Farmers who wish to extend the maturity date of their loans should contact their county ASCS office or Agricultural Service Center.

Central Jersey Holstein show held

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - There were some pleasant surprises in the Central Jersey Holstein Show held last Friday at the Flemington Fairgrounds, reports George Alles, show chairman. One was the turnout of animals. This year's show was the largest in the past five or six years, he said.

Joseph Piskorowski, Lawrenceville a 4-H'er, exhibited the first prize junior yearling and junior champion female, Femmara Liberty. Charles Rogers and family, Pennington, first-timers in the Central Show, had several animals toward the top of the classes.

Hunterdon Hills Holsteins,

Rosemont, took first place ribbons in each of the milking classes and in one of the junior classes and qualified for the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor trophies.

Second in both of these competitions was William Teets' Backacres Farm, Lebanon. Among his blue ribbon winners were his bull calf, junior heifer calf, senior heifer calf and senior yearling. He also placed first in the daughter-dam class.

Placing the animals in the classes was Elvin Hess of Strasburg, Pa., a recognized Holstein Association type judge. Hess is a prominent breeder and exhibitor of registered Holsteins and a past-president of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association.

Hunterdon Elevation Horta, exhibited by Hunterdon Hills, was placed first in the two-year-old class and was subsequently designated as senior and grand champion female. She received a trophy donated by the Hunterdon County National Bank.

The reserve champion female was the aged cow entry of Hunterdon Hills, Glen Summit HHH Asha Fawnia. She was awarded a trophy presented by Hunterdon Agway.

The grand champion rosette and trophy in the junior division went to Penn-Breeze Gaby Elevation Kim, exhibited by Sandy Rogers, Pennington. The reserve champion female was exhibited by Sandy's sister, Janet. She showed Penn-Breeze Connie Charm Kelly.

Highlighting the day's show was the competition for the top youth award, a registered calf. This year's calf was donated by Henry Fisher, Jr., Sergeantville. The winner was Marianne Schwab, Ringoes. A member of the Mt. Airy 4-H Dairy Club, Marianne had the highest composite score based on record books, fitting and showmanship.

Judging record books was Jay Rupell, vo-ag instructor at Warren Hills High School.

Robert Albrecht, farm manager at Marlu Farms, Lincroft, scored youth for both fitting and showmanship during the day-long show.

Second in the overall youth competition was Kevin Von-Keyslering, Milford. He received a show halter.

First prize in the experienced fitting and showmanship competition went to Sandy Rogers; second to Lucinda Pill, High Bridge.

First beginner fitting and showmanship award was won by Gretchen Kuehn, Flemington, and second to Sandra Sutton, North Branch.

Serving as co-chairman for the show with George Alles was James Phillips, of Three Bridges. Others on the show committee were: Isador Fleming and Howard J. Sutton, both from Califron; Henry Kuehn, Jr., and John Hageman, both from Flemington; Floyd Schwab, Ringoes; and James Norz, Neshanic Station.

First place winners in the classes were as follows:

Bull calves - Backacres Noam, Backacres Farm; he was also named champion bull.

Junior heifer calves - Backacres Joyous Bloom, Backacres; intermediate heifer calves - Hunterdon Inspire Alicia, Hunterdon Hills; senior heifer calves - Backacres Juanita Melon, Backacres; junior yearling - Femmara Liberty, J.H. Order 4 milk price $10.15/cwt. for July SOUTHAMPTON, Pa. - Area dairy farmers who are members of Inter-state Milk Producers' Cooperatives received $10.15 per hundredweight for milk they produced during July.

(Price includes an additional 6 cents per hundredweight which producers shipping to plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia receive.)

This price, known as the weighted average price, is the actual average price all Federal Order 4 dairymen receive for milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat. It is adjusted accordingly for higher or lower butterfat content.

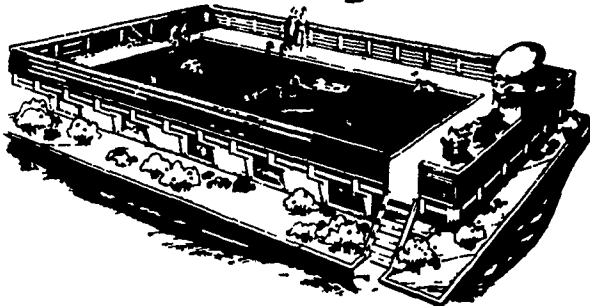

The July weighted average blend price is equivalent to 22 cents per quart. The July price compares to $10.10 per hundredweight for the previous month and $10.11 per hundredweight for a year ago. Quart equivalent prices were 22 cents for the previous month and 22 cents for a year ago.

The farm base milk price for July was $10.30 per hundredweight while the excess price was $8.69 per hundredweight. The butterfat differential was 11.6 cents for each point above or below 3.5 per cent. The base price is unchanged from the previous month and unchanged from a year ago. The Order 4 excess price is up 19 cents per hundredweight from the previous month and down 8 cents per hundredweights from a year ago.

A total of 471 million pounds of Federal Order 4 producer milk as pooled in July of which 53 per cent was sold as Class I, compared to 54 per cent for the previous month and 57 per cent a year ago. A total of 7,988 Order 4 producers provided 15.2 million pounds per day to dealers during July averaging 1,901 pounds per farm per day. Total value of producer milk was set at $47.7 million for the month.

Potato breeding breakthrough reported

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. - An important new way of breeding potato plants and other food crops may result from the work of genetic scientists at Penn State University.

Dr. Paul Grun, professor of cytology and cytogenetics, and his associate, Liu-Jen Chu, have succeeded in removing the cell walls of potato plant leaves and then culturing the result cell spheres so they put on new cell walls. The complete cells can then be induced to grow into potato plants.

The achievement is considered important because it may allow scientists to change the cells' contents so as to develop improved strains of potatoes and to grow many potato plants from the cells of a single leaf.

Dr. Grun reported last Monday on the results of two years' research before a meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences at Michigan State University.

Removal of the cell wall, Dr. Grun explains, may permit plant geneticists to transplant cell parts from one species of potato to another. This has crucial implications for breeding in resistance of diseases that periodically destroy potatoes and other food crops - and breeding out the sterility that often accompanies plant crossings.

Essentially, Dr. Grun and Mrs. Chu have found a way of digesting away the walls of potato leave cells, and then inducing the "naked" cells to grow new walls by culturing them at just the right combination of light and chemicals.

"As a result," says Dr. Grun, "we may now be able to change the nature of the cell in ways that have not previously been possible."

Pesticide users asked to unite in effort to amend regulations

PARK RIDGE, Ill. - Allan Grant, president of American Farm Bureau Federation is calling on all users of pesticides to unite in a cooperative effort to get amendments to laws controlling pesticide use.

Among changes Grant wants in the present laws are provisions for a comprehensive benefit-risk assessment of a pesticide before considering cancellation of its use, a review of decisions by a qualified scientific committee and additional U. S. Department of Agriculture input into agricultural pesticide regulations.

"Since a subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee has agreed to hold a markup session on proposed amendments to the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), this is an opportune time to press for much needed changes in the regulations to give us rules with which we can live," Grant said.

While farmers and ranchers are major users of pesticides, other users include pest control operators, public health officials, foresters and homeowners.

"The decision to hold a markup session in the House indicates that committee members sense considerable discontent over pesticide regulations," Grant said.

"Congress seems to be telling user groups that now is their chance to show support for necessary changes in the law."

One of the main reasons pesticide users want changes in the law is the frequent arbitrary interpretation of regulations by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) which administers FIFRA. In many cases, Grant said, EPA interpretations are direct contradictions to the expressed intent of Congress. "Excessive regulations have increased pesticide development costs 300 per cent since 1972, when FIFRA was created," Grant explained. "Unless this trend is reversed, the incentive for development of needed new pesticides will be destroyed."

Grant charged that EPA is not realistically evaluating benefits versus risks in some of its arbitrary decisions banning use of some chemicals.

He also charged the EPA has not complied with a congressional mandate to register or reregister existing pesticides. There is no way EPA can meet the deadline set by Congress for this procedure, he added.

Another change that is needed, according to Grant, is to make provisions for the registration by states of pesticides for use on minor specialty crops.

Craftsmen collecting for peach celebration

GATCHELLVILLE, Pa. - Labor Day Weekend at Craftsman from Maryland and Pennsylvania will team up to promote peaches at the third annual Peachilicious

Labor Day Weekend at Maple Lawn Farms September 3, 4, and 5. Each craftsman at the craft fair must carry some peach related item in his line.

"They've come up with imaginative and beautiful creations," states Peachilicious coordinator and farm wife Gail McPherson, who conceived this unique method to involve many non-farm contributors in the peach harvest celebration each year.

Displaying shiny peach color stones in their lapidary work are the Kermit Stong family, Bel Air, Md., whose children take an active part in the design and fashioning of the jewelry and stone collecting.

Germantown, Md.'s, Janice Taylor uses peach wood in her carving and macrame work. Back for second and third years are Blanche DeVoe, Pylesville, with crocheting in the peach color; Mary Gerlach, Street, with "Bouquest that Last" uses the peach seeds and branches with dried flower arrangements; and the D & H Greenhouse ladies with their peach scented geraniums and other living plants will take part this year.

Stewartstown, Pa., craftsmen include Edith McDonald featuring miniature dolls and miscellaneous items, and the Warner Family Crafts specializing in Christmas tree ornaments utilizing peach seeds and sequins.

Indian and costume jewelry with peach selections are the line of David Sherrer, Shrewsbury. From Seven Valleys comes Nora Stremmel with bath sets and rugs in peach and other rainbow colors.

Country Crafts dried jewelry under domes is the art of Evelyn Kern, Spring Grove. Three entries from Red Lion include Gloria Linburg with leather craft peach key holders, Bernard De Chant with pottery and plants, and Elsie Graser with hand sewing.

Ben Riedel has an array of refrigerator magnets, shell rosers, beadwork and fluffy peachy kittens from his York carving of plaques and kitchen boards brightened with running peaches, peaches, leaves and daisies, and a brandy keg with a peach brandy in the making.

Registration for craft booths is open until August 31, and can be made with Gail McPherson, Maple Lawn Farms, New Park, Pa., 17352.

Kendy's Kollumn

I shortly got the idea that this horse had ideas of its own for as soon as I was holding it simply by the neck rope, it laid its ears back and showed its teeth to me. Now the beast wasn't smiling, and while I kept both eyes glued on it to find out what would happen next, I muttered for my friend to hurry up with the bridle. Things were getting a little tense

It was about at this precise moment that the bridle was found and my friend, hoping to speed things up, rather rammed the bit into the horse's mouth.

The next thing I knew the horse had reared, turned around, and I was standing there facing two hind feet at close range, with about three inches of rope left in my hot little hands.

I did what any red-blooded American girl would do in that situation I promptly dropped the rope.

The contrary horse loss no time in proving that he could gallop with great speed and tore off down through the parking area, leaving a trail of dust and gravel scattered behind him. My little friend stood there, looked up at me with those big brown accusing eyes and said "I thought you were holding the horse!"

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, August 27, 1977—117

About then the beast in question decided to change course and ran between a car and trailer that were parked side by side. A horse tied to the trailer considered this an invasion of privacy and told the loose mount so by promptly kicking out one hind foot, aiming for the footloose horse.

The only problem in the action was that that misguided beast missed the runaway and solidly indented the side of a car with a hoof imprint

Shortly beyond the car the loose horse was cornered and captured, returning to his tearful owner with head lowered and nickering promises of never misbehaving again.

And me? I went down to see the damaged car which just happened to be mine. That's right. Of all the cars in the parking area, that beast picked mine as its victim.

I'm still trying to explain the whole thing to the insurance company.

Spickler tickles'em twice

THE BUCK—Tractor pulling fans in the nation's only tractor pulling stadium near this southern Lancaster County community saw an aircraft engine powered tractor roar to two victories last Saturday, with Galen Spickler of Elizabethtown behind the controls.

Spickler, a regular puller at the Buck Pulls, tickled the fans with wins in the 12,000 and 9000 pound open classes. In the latter contest, fans were given the extraordinary thrill of the top three pullers being separated by just over seven feet, and the top two by just eight inches. Spickler won the class with a full pull, followed by Les Houck at 299-4, and Dave Becker at 292-10. Houck, from Kinzer, drove a tractor powered by twin Dodge 440 engines, while Becker, a Mount Joy resident, had a pair of Ford 460's at the head end of the drive train.

Spickler's Allison air craft machine won by a larger margin in the 12,000 pound open class, beating runner-up Tom Middleton of Ridgely, Md. by 20 feet. Middleton, who had a full pull in the 9000 pound super stock class, drove an IH 1066 to a distance of 236-6. In third was another Marylander, Robert Riggs, who drove a JD 4320 to a distance of 213-2.

Middleton was followed in the 9000 pound super stock class by Marlin Brubaker, whose AC D-21 quit at 233-10, and Harry Griest, of Coatesville.

In the 7000 pound modified class, the top three contenders each went the full distance of the track in the first heat. But on their second pull, when the weight on the sled was adjusted to give them a more strenuous Landis of Berlin who went the farthest. His pull measured 269 feet. Driving a rig which was powered by two Dodge 440 engines, he beat Les Houck, who was driving a similar machine. In third was Greg Manners of Ringoes, N.J. piloting his M55.

Results of other classes follow:

5000 pound modified

1. Don Shine, Jamestown, MH-44, 298-1; 2. Eugene Spickler, Elizabethtown, 2-327 Chevys, 283-3; 3. Gary Mills, Fallston, Md., 427 Chevy, 282-7.
